NUEVO LAREDO LIKELY AS SCENE OF PARLEYS.

Constitutionalist Delegates Prefer Neutral Place in Mexico.

Members of Junta Say Carranza's Reply Will Arrive in Short Time.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Mexican [illegible], probably will be chosen for the scene of the proposed conference between Huerta's envoys and Constitutionalist delegates over plans for the establishment of a provisional government. Constitutionalist representatives in Washington today expressed preference for a neutral place in Mexico [illegible] along the border for the peace parley. Two of the Niagara mediators, Ambassador Da Gama and Minister Suarez, are to confer in New York today over the details of the meeting. With dissention among the Constitutionalist leaders seemingly near adjustment, members of the revolutionary junta here repeated expressions of confidence that the proposed Huerta-Carranza conference would take place.

While the Constitutionalist agents here have not determined on any particular place for the meeting, they wish to divorce the proposed conferences from any relation to the Niagara mediation proceedings, so that Mexican people may thoroughly understand the method by which their new chief executive is agreed upon.

Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, has been considered a likely choice for the scene of the parley. It is opposite Laredo, Texas, where quick communication by telegraph and cable can be arranged with Mexico City for the Huerta delegates. Communication southward with Constitutionalists headquarters would be easy.

Members of the Constitutionalist junta said any answer from Carranza as to participation in the conference will arrive within another week.

DENVER LEAVES MAZATLAN.

Reason for Amezcua's Departure for Santa Rosalia Unknown.

ON BOARD U. S. S. CALIFORNIA, Mazatlan, July 7, by wireless via San Diego, July 8.—Governor Amezcua left La Paz today on board steamer Korrigan, bound for Santa Rosalia. The reason for his departure is not known.

Carrying as passengers five Mexican sailors rescued in recent fighting between the Federal and Constitutionalist forces, cruiser Denver left Mazatlan today for San Francisco. The Mexicans will be interned in one of the military prison camps along the border.

COLONEL DENNY DEAD.

Almost Instantly Killed in Fall Over Balustrade at His Home.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Colonel Frank L. Denny, retired, of the marine corps, was almost instantly killed early today when he fell over a balustrade in his home to the floor below. The report to the police said he was walking in his sleep.

Colonel Denny's family believe he was seized with an attack of vertigo, to which he was subject, and fell while walking about the house. He struck his head upon a marble top table, crushing his skull. The colonel's daughter, awakened by the crash, found her father dying where he had fallen.

Colonel Denny was one of the storm centres in a row in the marine corps three years ago in which it was charged that a number of staff officers in Washington were controlling the corps. Secretary of the Navy Meyer, after an investigation, ordered the officers concerned to distant posts, sending Colonel Denny to San Francisco. Early in his administration President Wilson returned Colonel Denny to Washington. Colonel Denny was prominent in the social and club life of the capital.

HEALTH SITUATION NORMAL.

About 1,325 Persons in the Concentration Camps in Salem.

SALEM, Mass., July 8.—Instead of 4,000 or 5,000, as was generally believed, there were actually only 1,325 men, women and children in the concentration camps established for the persons who lost their homes in the fire of June 25, Mayor Hurley announced today. In a report to Mayor Hurley, following the withdrawal of the state troops late yesterday, Colonel Frank A. Graves, who had been in charge of the camps, stated that the number of people had been greatly overestimated, and that the total was only 1,325.

Except for a few cases of whooping cough and one case of scarlet fever, the health of the tent dwellers was normal, Colonel Graves reported.

Colonel Frank E. Cutting, now in charge, reported that the four camps would be concentrated at Forest River park tonight or tomorrow.

At a meeting of the relief committee of [illegible] the finance subcommittee reported that appeals for assistance had been sent to 8,700 clergymen, 800 theatres, 3,500 hotels, 3,000 [illegible], 800 Boards of Trade, 600 Young Men's Christian Associations, 1200 banks and 37 [illegible].

TOTAL SUBSCRIBED $434,900.

Salem's Largest Gift Today from a Relief Committee of Philadelphia.

BOSTON, July 8.—Contributions of more than $22,000 were received today by the treasurer of the fund for the relief of the Salem fire sufferers. The total subscribed up to date is $434,900. The largest gift today, $5,000, came from the Citizen's Permanent Relief Committee of Philadelphia. Subscriptions of $2,000 each came from the people of Worcester and Providence, R. I., $1,200 from Medford and the city of St. John, New Bruswick.

BELGIUM DEFEATED IN DOUBLES BY ENGLAND.

Loser in the First Preliminary for the Davis Trophy.

Great Britain to Meet France in Second Round at Wimbledon.

FOLKESTONE, England, July 8.—England today won the doubles match against Belgium in the first preliminary round of the competition for the Dwight F. Davis international lawn tennis trophy and this victory, with their two successes in the singles matches yesterday, gave them the victory in the round.

H. Roper Barrett and T. M. Mavrogordato, the English representatives, defeated W. P. Duvivier and A. G. Watson, the Belgians, in three straight sets—6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

The English team, as a result of this victory, will meet France in the second round at Wimbledon Saturday.

QUESTION AN OPEN ONE.

Roosevelt's Statements Declining to Run for Governor Unchanged.

NEW YORK, July 8.—For two hours today the Progressive leaders of New York state used every argument at their command to force Colonel Roosevelt to agree that he would accept the nomination for governor. After it was all over Colonel Roosevelt said that he had nothing to say at this time and would not change his previous statements declining to run. It was understood, however, that the question was still an open one.

Ever since his return from Europe Colonel Roosevelt has been receiving letters and telegrams from Progressive leaders in various parts of the country, urging him not to accept the nomination. In some instances these messages charged that the New York leaders are willing to run the chance of injuring the party in the union for the sake of making a good showing in this state.

Among those who talked with Colonel Roosevelt were Halbert P. Gardner, national committeeman from Maine and Progressive candidate for governor of that state, and Irving E. Vernon, Progressive state chairman in Maine.

THE NEW HAVEN DISSOLUTION.

Attorney General Still Hopeful of Settlement Without Long Fight.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Although the Department of Justice is prepared to go ahead and file its suit for the dissolution of the New Haven railroad system, Attorney General McReynolds still is hopeful of a settlement without a prolonged fight in the courts. As was announced some time ago, President Wilson and the Attorney General had agreed that the suit should be filed not later than July 15, unless the Massachusetts legislature and the executive committee of the road agreed on certain legislation necessary for disposing of some of the stocks which the government contends are being held in violation of law. Administration officials pin their faith of a settlement without a long fight on the fact that a new legislature comes into existence January 1. Under ordinary procedure a suit filed this month would not proceed very far by that time and could be halted whenever the necessary legislation for a peaceful settlement was enacted.

FIRST AMENDMENT CARRIED.

Committee Stage of Bill to Amend Home Rule Bill Opened.

LONDON, July 8.—The committee stage of the bill to amend the Irish home rule bill opened today in the House of Lords and will occupy three days. The first Unionist amendment to eliminate the clause of the bill providing for a vote to be taken in each county of Ulster on the question whether it should be excluded from the operation of the bill was carried by 158 to 36.

CONVENE IN PROVIDENCE.

Mayor Addresses New England States Association of Stationary Engineers.

PROVIDENCE, July 8.—With members present from each of the six states, the New England States Association of Stationary Engineers opened its annual convention and mechanical exhibition today. Addresses were made by Mayor Joseph H. Gainer, John P. Farnsworth, president of the Providence Chamber of Commerce, and Bradford L. Ames and W. Carleton Barnes, both of Boston, officers of the New England Association of Commercial Engineers.

Dismantling of Shamrock IV. Lipton's Challenger, Begun.

GOSPORT, England, July 8.—A beginning was made today with the dismantling of Shamrock IV, Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger for the America's cup. The designer expects that the yacht will be ready to start on her voyage across the Atlantic two weeks from today.

BIG EXPENDITURE NECESSARY.

Imperial Valley in Southern California Threatened by Colorado River.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—The entire Imperial Valley in Southern California is threatened by the flood waters of the Colorado river, according to a statement made today by President William Sproule of the Southern Pacific Company, who has recently returned from the district. Conditions are threatening now, and will be more so if not attended to, he said. "If there is any temporizing with the difficulty, an expenditure of $1,500,000 will have to be made."

PRESIDENT SUPPORTS WARBURG AND JONES.

Wilson's Nominee to Federal Board Urged to Re-Consider.

Unfair to Democratic Party to be Regarded as Enemy of Business.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Declaring that it would be unfair to regard the Democratic party as the enemy of legitimate business, President Wilson today gave out a statement in support of Paul M. Warburg of New York and Thomas A. Jones of Chicago, his nominees for the federal reserve board. President Wilson's statement follows:

"It would be particularly unfair to the Democratic party and the Senate itself to regard it as the enemy of business, big or little. I am sure that it does not regard a man as an object of suspicion merely because he has been connected with great business enterprises. I know the business of the country has been chiefly promoted in recent years by enterprise organized on a great scale, and that the vast majority of the men connected with what we have come to call big business are honest, incorruptible and patriotic. The country may be certain that it is clear to members of the Senate, as it is clear to all thoughtful men, that those who have tried to make big business what it ought to be are the men to be encouraged and honored whenever they respond without reserve to the call of public service.

"I predict with the greatest confidence that nothing done by the Democratic majority of the Senate of the United States will be of a sort to throw suspicion upon such men. Mr. Jones and Mr. Warburg, in manifesting their willingness to make personal sacrifices and put their great experience and ability at the service of the government, without thought of personal advantage, in the organization of a great reform which promises to be so serviceable to the nation, are setting an example of patriotism and of public spirit which the whole country admires.

"It is the obvious business of statesmanship at this point to unite every force for the upbuilding of legitimate business along the new lines which are now clearly indicated for the future."

The President said today that he earnestly hoped Mr. Warburg would re-consider his decision not to accept the nomination and that he was urging him to do so. He expressed confidence that Mr. Jones would be confirmed.

The Senate banking committee had no meeting today, but an opportunity will be afforded tomorrow for a formal motion to withdraw the invitation that Mr. Warburg appear to be questioned. It was said today by members that a majority probably would oppose it. Acting Chairman Hitchcock said no suggestion had reached him from administration officials for withdrawal of the invitation.

The nomination of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago also will be taken up tomorrow. It was not certain today that Mr. Jones would be approved by a majority.

It became known that several members of the committee are not so much interested in the American connections of Mr. Warburg as in any interest he may have in foreign banking houses, and in his foreign investments.

With three members of the board—Charles S. Hamlin, W. P. G. Harding and A. C. Miller—confirmed, the board must soon come into actual existence, as the act creating it provides that members must take the oath and qualify within 15 days after notice of appointments. These three active members of the board, together with the comptroller of the currency and the Secretary of the Treasury, give the necessary five votes out of the total of seven required to pass any measure through the board.

It is known, however, that these five prefer to wait, if possible, until the complete board is named before rushing through organization plans. Several experts have been called upon to outline the steps necessary to create the federal reserve banks in a satisfactory and speedy manner. These reports are ready for the consideration of the new board as soon as it is convened. The designation of one member of the board as governor and another as vice governor will devolve upon President Wilson.

WILSON MEETS BUSINESS MEN.

Industrial and Financial Situation of the Country Discussed.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—An important conference for a discussion of the industrial and financial situation of the country, as well as the administration's anti-trust program was held at the White House today. President Wilson had an engagement to discuss these matters with a delegation of business men representing the Chicago Association of Commerce. The interview had been sought by the Chicagoans.

Tomorrow the President has an engagement with Henry Ford, the Detroit manufacturer, a committee of bankers from Illinois, and a delegation of the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks, who have been holding their annual convention at Atlantic City. The President, it is stated, requested the Association to frame regulations by which the banking laws of the various states will conform to the new regional bank act. The delegation from the Association is expected to report the results of its efforts to the federal reserve board here tomorrow and confer with the President later in the day.

In their [illegible] asking for today's conference with the President the Chicago business men stated definitely that they [illegible] to discuss anti-trust legislation, features of which they oppose. The delegation included representatives of the iron and hardware, grocery, and packing business, dry goods, the banking interests and lawyers.

MITCHEL'S METHODS.

"Business" Administration an Advance for Good Government.

[New York Tribune.]

The real progress which this city has made in good government is measured by the fact that so excellent an administration as Mayor Mitchel has given during his first six months in office is taken for granted.

It is only a short time ago that such appointments as he has made, such indifference to politics as he has shown and such standards of public service as he has maintained would have caused a sensation. The papers would have been full of the administration's doings. And the administration would have been quite conscious of the sensation it was creating by mere honest attention to the city's business. But the Mitchel administration has done its work as if front pages did not exist. The [illegible] ward has been pretty faithfully [illegible]. The mayor is [illegible] a thorough [illegible] city's business [illegible].

There is [illegible] the present administration [illegible] other non-partisan administrations have lacked [illegible] characteristic [illegible] office but [illegible] the city government. The [illegible] board of estimate and apportionment is largely made up of men who are trained municipal [illegible]. And the mayor has been able to surround himself with department heads of a new type, men who have [illegible] learned the city's business in office or through attention to civic organizations, making its affairs their constant study. This administration thus started off with more men having special knowledge of the duties before them than at any time in the city's history. We have talked a good deal in the past of a "business" administration of New York. A more better ideal is a municipal business administration—that is, in the hands of men who are not merely good private business men [illegible] business men who understand it thoroughly in advance [illegible] which is before them in office. Mayor Mitchel has [illegible] sensibly nearer that ideal.

Every non-partisan mayor of New York has advanced the standards of government here. It seems certain that Mayor Mitchel will contribute toward the forward movement. A public which takes such an administration as his for granted is not likely soon again to put up with one of the Van Wyck sort.

UNCLAIMED DEPOSITS.

Statute for Payment Said to be in Violation of the Constitution.

The constitutionality of the statute providing for the payment of unclaimed deposits in savings banks to the state is raised in two cases certified by Presiding Justice Tanner of the superior court to the supreme court. The law, passed by the General Assembly in 1909, relates to accounts between depositors and savings banks upon which no entries of deposit or withdrawal have been made within 20 years. On petition of the attorney general deposits on such accounts, after advertising, shall be paid into the hands of the state treasurer.

In petitions against the People's Savings Bank of Providence and the Providence County Savings Bank of Pawtucket the questions of constitutionality have been raised. In the former case Herbert Almy intervenes as a depositor and says the law is in conflict with the provisions of the charter of the bank, which provides that the interest of unclaimed deposits after 20 years shall be divided among the other depositors. This charter provision becomes a part of the contract with depositors, Mr. Almy claims, and the statute violates the constitution with a guarantees the right of contract.

In the other case it is contended that the statute is in violation of the constitution of the United States and of Rhode Island. The statute is in chapter 464 of the Public Laws, passed at the January session, 1909. It conflicts with section 1, article 14 of the constitution of the United States and with sections 1, 2 and 16 article 1 of the state constitution, it is claimed, in that it deprives persons of property without due process of law.

COST OF MOTORING LOWER.

Prices of Cars, Gasoline and Tires Show Downward Tendency in Price.

Conditions Right to Stimulate the Manufacturing Business for Coming Season.

[Writer in Boston Transcript.]

Facing a combination of favorable conditions and circumstances, the like of which has never before been seen, the automobile trade is about to enter upon a new season, which, barring extraneous disturbance, should result in a notable development of business. Three things tend to enter into the calculations of every motorist, and upon which he in greater part bases his decision whether or not to purchase a new car. [illegible] showing a decided downward tendency in price. These are the motor cars themselves, tires and fuel. All three are cheaper than a year ago, and when the 1914 season began, and there is apparently no reason to expect that for [illegible] the [illegible] tendency will be reversed.

The automobile manufacturers have reached the point where competition is intense. [illegible] methods of manufacture [illegible] reductions in the price of their products. In the old days, when [illegible] were being [illegible] rapidly [illegible] prices [illegible] year, and there was no question [illegible] because each [illegible] model was very [illegible] than its predecessor. There came a time when the mechanism was standardized in important particulars and refinements [illegible] attention was turned to the body work and finish, and for the past few years [illegible] the industry. The result was that while the motor cars [illegible] cheaper [illegible] the public wanted [illegible] more comfortable upholstery [illegible] conveniences of equipment, including electric appliances, kept the prices at a fairly even level, with in most cases only small reductions.

This year, however, the manufacturers have reached the point where cars cannot be improved except in small details, and with no necessity of making radical changes in design or adding any expensive equipment, they are in a position to scale down prices. And this is what is going on at the present time. The cars of the 1915 series from many a factory will show a decided lowering in price from last season.

Not enough manufacturers have so far announced their plans for the new series of cars to make it a safe statement that there will be a widespread general reduction in prices. But of the announcements that have been made so many contain a lower figure as the selling price, that it may almost be taken for granted that this will be the feature of the new season.

Next to the cars themselves the motorist is most concerned in the cost of tire equipment, for that is the largest single item of maintenance, exceeding even that of fuel. For several years the tire manufacturers have been gradually shading their prices and today the best known makes of tires are far lower in cost than they were even a year ago. In three years one of the largest manufacturers has cut tire prices almost in halves. As an example, three years ago a 36x4 tire of a certain make with non-skid tread was priced at $50.25; today the same sized tire with a non-skid tread claimed to be much better than the old type, sells for $27.75. Tire manufacturers are building great additions to their plants, and with no immediate danger of an increase in the cost of raw materials or of labor the conditions seem to be right for a continued reduction in prices. The motorist who drove a small car three years ago and who had to pay about $20 for his tires now can buy them for about $14.

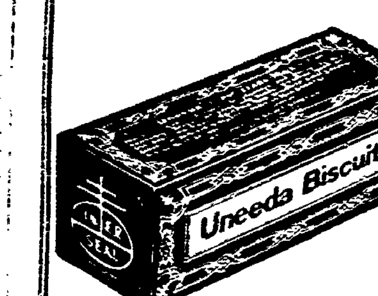

Just when the motoring public had made up its mind that it must stand a steadily advancing cost of gasoline, having become convinced that the matter was being regulated by the inexorable economic law of supply and demand, with the supply decreasing and the demand increasing, the price of gasoline began to tumble. Last summer, when gasoline at most garages sold for 20 cents a gallon and at some for 25 cents, there was much discussion over the subject and [illegible] and investigations were started with the hope of discovering some other fuel. Almost everybody admitted that not enough gasoline could be produced to supply the motor cars and other consumers of this fuel and that the price must inevitably go on up and up until it became so high that some other fuel would have to be developed.

Then suddenly the price of gas began to go down, and they have been going down ever since until today there are few garages that are asking over 17 cents for gasoline, while there [illegible] along the roadside that try [illegible] motorist with signs [illegible] gasoline for sale at 17 [illegible] [illegible]

Mutual Insurance.

We have always maintained that Mutual Insurance should be judged by its weakest link. In other words, that should a conflagration take place where it has the most insured, almost invariably in its home town, it should have enough surplus to look after its losses and plenty besides.

The Holyoke Mutual commenced business in 1843 in Salem, but its business is so well divided through New England that while it suffered a loss of $225,000 in the late conflagration, it will still have left a surplus of $450,000 and had the whole city of Salem burned, the Holyoke would still have had a good surplus.

The Quincy, another Mutual which we can recommend, suffered but $7,500 loss in Salem. Its surplus January 1st, 1914, over all liabilities was $549,809.77.

Some Reasons Why Not

THERE are many reasons why the small merchant should not sit back and let the mail order houses take the cream of his out of town trade. One of them is the parcel post service. Under the zone system of postal rates every merchant within the limits of his own territory may now develop a mail order business on his own account. He can ship goods much cheaper and much more expeditiously than any concern outside his district.

Every merchant should at once begin an educational campaign of advertising, teaching the people within reach of his influence that it is less expensive, quicker and infinitely more satisfactory to make their purchases near home than to send elsewhere.

Retirement of Rear Admiral Southerland and Nominations for Vacancies.

Rear Admiral William H. H. Southerland, whose most recent duty was as president of the naval plucking board, will be placed on the retired list July 10 next, when he will reach the statutory age limit. This retirement will cause the promotion of the following officers to the next higher grades: Captain Charles A. Gove, Commander Charles F. Hughes, Lieutenant Commander Thomas T. Craven and Daniel W. Wurtzbaugh, who is an additional number; Lieutenant Harry A. Baldridge, and Lieutenant, junior grade, Charles S. Slayton.

These promotions will leave as seniors in their respective grades Captain DeWitt Coffman, Commander Edward L. Beach, Lieutenant Commander Ralph Earle, Lieutenant William L. Pryor and Lieutenant, junior grade, Irving M. Mayfield.

After July 10 next no retirements for age will occur in the line of the navy until December 15 next, when Rear Admiral Reginald F. Nicholson reaches the retiring age. Rear Admiral Nicholson was formerly chief of the bureau of navigation and was recently assigned to the general board, following his completion of a tour of duty in command of the Asiatic squadron.

HOW TO COOK HAM.

Soaking Over Night in Spiced Liquor Adds Greatly to Its Flavor.

To have served on her table a juicy, tender ham, whose delicate pink slices, seem to literally melt in one's mouth, is the aim of every good housekeeper, yet few realize that the cooking of the ham has almost as much to do with this desirable result as the quality of the ham itself.

Almost all hams are greatly improved by being soaked over night. First wash the ham thoroughly with cold water, using a small scrubbing brush; then lay in an oval granite-ware kettle, cover with cold water and add one white onion, stuck with whole cloves, two bay leaves, three stalks of chopped celery, a blade of mace and two broken sticks of cinnamon.

Allow to stand in the water with the vegetables and spices over night and in the morning set the kettle over a moderate fire, so that the water may heat gradually. It should not reach the boiling point for at least two hours. Skim carefully and simmer gently, allowing 15 minutes for each pound of ham, from the time it begins to simmer. Let cool in the spiced liquor in which it has been cooked. When cold remove from the water and take off the rind without cutting the fat. Brush the fat over with beaten egg, sprinkle thickly with dried bread crumbs and place in a quick oven for about 15 minutes to form a crisp brown crust. Serve on a large platter garnished with parsley.

If the ham is to be served hot, it is removed from the water when cooked and, after the rind has been removed, it is covered with egg and crumbs and browned immediately. Serve surrounded with a border of vegetable flowers and tiny potato balls that have been sprinkled with chopped parsley.

GERMANS TO COMPETE.

Lawn Tennis Team to Meet Australians in Davis Cup Contests.

The German Lawn Tennis League has again decided to take part in the competitions for the Dwight F. Davis international trophy and will send a team to the United States to meet the Australians. Early in the year Germany sent a challege for the cup, but a few weeks later notified the United States National Lawn Tennis Association that it would withdraw the challenge. This caused much disappointment, and Otto Froitzheim, the German champion, who is in the best of form, is now endeavoring to induce Robert Kleinschroth to accompany him to the United States if Friedrich Rahe and Henry Kleinschroth should be prevented from doing so.

The dates set for the challenge round, August 13, 14 and 15, at the West Side Club, will remain unchanged.

A cablegram has been received from France, as follows: "Accept Longwood. Decugis, Germot, Foulin, Montariol." This signifies that the Longwood courts are acceptable to the French and that Montariol has been substituted on the team for J. Samezerich.

BECAUSE OUR MOTHERS DREAMED.

[Glad Madone, in Ainslee's.]

Because our mothers dreamed we may have hope;
Facing the dawn and pain with lovely eyes,
Seeing the rapture where the shadow lies—
Because our mothers dreamed we may have hope.

Because our mothers dreamed we may have love.
Casting their hearts at young things everywhere,
Finding such selfish service all their care—
Because our mothers dreamed we may have love.

Because our mothers dreamed we may have God;
Exultingly, creation as their goal,
Molding out flesh from flesh and soul from soul—
Because our mothers dreamed we may have God!

PERSONALS.

....With 10 children whose weights total more than a ton Mrs. John W. Laird of Garfield, Wash., has a claim to one of the largest families in the Northwest. The mother weighs 135 pounds. Her heaviest son, 20 years old, weighs 295, and three others 245 each. The youngest child is 10, the oldest 35, and the total weight of the 10 is 2,085 pounds, an average of 208. Her sons are students at Washington State College, Pullman.

....After 17 years' absence, in which time his wife had re-married and she and his son had died, John H. P. Endress has returned to Philadelphia suddenly from the West and asked the Pennsylvania courts to re-establish his identity. He asks that a recent decree declaring him legally dead be vacated, and will immediately begin a fight to obtain possession of a family estate valued at some thousands of dollars.

....Not content with giving millions of money to cities, Andrew Carnegie may be induced to part with $75,000,000 or $100,000,000 to build libraries in country districts, according to Philander P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, who is attending the convention of the National Education Association at St. Paul. Mr. Claxton has discussed the matter with Mr. Carnegie, and while he has no authority to say that Mr. Carnegie will contribute any sums which may be desired, he recommends that counties take action and make applications for assistance.

....James H. Hustis, president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, was Tuesday elected president of the Boston & Maine railroad succeeding Morris McDonald, who recently resigned. Mr. Hustis's election becomes effective August 15. In the meantime he will continue in the New Haven's presidency until the return of Howard Elliott, chairman of the New Haven directors, from a vacation trip in the Maine woods. When Mr. Hustis leaves the New Haven it is expected that Mr Elliott, besides continuing as chairman of the board, will be given the title of president. No announcement was made regarding Mr. Hustis's salary in his new position. The Boston & Maine presidency has been carrying an annual salary of $35,000, the same which Mr. Hustis has been receiving from the New Haven since last September.

COST OF PENSIONS.

Reduction by Death of Veterans Decreases Governmental Expenses.

[Pittsburgh Post.]

The cost of military pensions to the government of the United States, which reached its summit in the fiscal year now ending, is expected to begin to go down, and will undoubtedly go down rapidly unless the amounts paid to individual pensioners are again increased by Congress.

During the first 10 months of the present fiscal year the number of Civil War veterans on the pension list decreased from 462,000 to 455,000 and 5,000 additional names will be dropped by the time the year ends. The pension estimates for the next fiscal year are, therefore, fixed at $169,000,000, as against $180,000,000 for the present fiscal year. Eleven millions of dollars does not seem much when compared with $169,000,000, but it is a considerable sum, and owing to it the reduction anticipated in the next 12 months, the decrease in this branch of governmental expenses should equal the sums raised by the income corporation tax.

It is interesting to note in connection with this expense of $180,000,000 for military pensions in the present fiscal year the sums paid out by other war-like nations for the same purposes. Germany paid out only $110,000,000 in the past year; Great Britain, $117,845. Russia and Japan, the two nations that engaged in the bloodiest war since our Civil war, plainly have no money to spare for pensions. Japan's expense last year was $7,000; that of Russia $5,237.

THE NEW REPUBLICAN LEADER.

There seems to be a feeling in the Republican ranks that the change recently made in the chairmanship of the state central committee will mean better things for the party in the approaching campaign. That confidence may be well placed. Joseph P. Burlingame, the new chairman, has had considerable experience in political affairs in the state and has been in close enough touch with the leaders for many years to be familiar with the men and the policies of the party. That will go far toward giving him success in his new work, but is not sufficient to make him entirely successful in guiding the party machinery and reconciling the differences among members. For a full measure of success along those important lines it is essential that he shall have the hearty and complete support of the other prominent men in the organization and that they shall work harmoniously with him for the advancement of the common interests.

No one can lead a political party aright without the support of the other leading men. This is particularly true in this state at the present time, when for some years there has been a division of opinion among the leaders and would-be leaders and a lack of harmony which has resulted sometimes quite disastrously and would have been more serious if the Democrats had not been in the same or even worse condition as regards a superabundance of men aspiring to be leaders. Mr. Burlingame has the opportunity to strengthen the party and place it on a better footing than it has occupied for the past few years, but all his efforts will be [illegible] that end if he [illegible] ere support of the prominent men in the body.

General Brown [illegible] had the organization [illegible] own forcefulness but it will probably be many years before [illegible] man will [illegible] in any party in this state [illegible] ever shall arise [illegible] moves the Republican [illegible] together [illegible] control the state government.

A FAIR VIEW OF THE COLOMBIAN ISSUE.

Mr. Du Bois is [illegible] formed in the [illegible] of [illegible] years ago [illegible] Panama [illegible] as [illegible] he was [illegible] of State [illegible] he was [illegible] formation cannot be merged [illegible] He [illegible] fore without the [illegible] of a Dem[illegible] of a Republican [illegible] in 1912.

He believes [illegible] Roosevelt and Secretary Hay [illegible] and is warmly [illegible] [illegible] treaty [illegible] which President Taft had negotiated [illegible] [illegible] There [illegible] was an offer of [illegible] and [illegible] small [illegible] pending treaty.

The two main facts on which Mr. Du Bois takes issue with [illegible] Roosevelt on which the former [illegible] [illegible] with [illegible] of all who care to [illegible] was not [illegible] a handful of persons, mostly foreigners, and the people of the [illegible] knew nothing about it [illegible] over, and that the success of the revolution was [illegible] President

Roosevelt's interference to prevent Colombia from suppressing it, that country not being allowed to send its troops within 50 miles of Panama or the railroad.

Other features of significance are that an American officer in uniform raised the flag of the so-called revolution and its success was announced to the Department of State by an American consul six hours before it occurred. These are some of the reasons why a large proportion of Americans deeply regret our part in separating Panama from Colombia and feel that some sort of amends are due from us. The regret expressed in the pending treaty is scarcely more than the common diplomatic form and the money offered is certainly not extortion, for Colombia has no power whatever to extort anything from us.

THE TWO WILLIAMS.

There seems to have been much [illegible] of the resignation of George Fred Williams. It was reported to have [illegible] called for but [illegible] had [illegible] been received [illegible] Secretary Bryan [illegible]

[illegible] William [illegible] of Wied [illegible] [illegible] said to [illegible] in Albania [illegible] against the insurgents. It seems not unlikely that the movements of the two Williams may depend each on the other.

The ex-minister William of Wied may be doing his best [illegible] in an effort to [illegible] with William of Dedham, who has stigmatized his reign [illegible] murder. On the other hand William of Dedham may be waiting in Athens for the other William to flee with a view of proceeding to Durazzo and assuming the [illegible] Mpret, the title which those who can pronounce it conferred upon the Prince of Wied.

It is quite possible that the kind people in Washington did not care to take the job away from George Fred until he can secure another, and were willing to give him a chance to resign in order to obtain more exciting if not a better position, rather than hurt his feelings by announcing that he had been fired. If the Albanians fire William of Wied, why should not William of Dedham accept the position of stepfather of this squalling and refractory infant nation, and walk the floor with it while his predecessor is going back to his own country, without a crown, but with a head, which is much more important? The original Bryan man in Massachusetts would be let down easily by the announcement from the White House, the Secretary of State being on a lecture tour, that Mr. George Fred Williams had resigned the position of minister to Greece and Montenegro in order to accept the more exhilarating office of Mpret of Albania.

TRUCK FARMING FOR CHILDREN.

In several cities in the north part of Michigan there are truck farms worked by children. Details of the plan are not at hand, but the work is done by the aid of experts from the state agricultural college. The farms are maintained by the cities and are in a sense public institutions—their aim is the instruction of children in the raising of vegetables and fruits, thus making them familiar with the simpler features of agricultural work. It is a part of the movement general all over the country to make [illegible] education practical and [illegible]. This takes [illegible] in different places, but [illegible] all tend to the one end of fitting children [illegible] when they leave school [illegible] will be prepared for some useful work, of which they will have learned at least the rudiments.

New York is to try the experiment of training in forestry boys who have been put in its reformatory. One hundred are to be set at work in the Palisades interstate park, to learn the business under trained instructors. The plan is to be tried under the direction of Miss Davis, commissioner of corrections, who was found that much of the benefit which might be derived from the reformatory supervision is lost because there is no interesting employment for the boys. The study of forestry ought to prove attractive to them.

The members of the lower branch of the Massachusetts legislature do not like to be limited in the number of bills they can introduce during a session. The senate passed a measure restricting each member of the house to five and each member of the senate to [illegible] bills, and the total number to [illegible], but the house of representatives refused to agree and there will be no limit in the future. The senate was modest in asking only twice as many per man as were allowed to the house.

Woman suffrage has met a setback in Alabama, where the house committee on constitutional amendments decided, five to four, to report adversely a bill giving women the right to vote in state and county elections. The legislature may, however, vote against the report of the committee. The women will not give up yet.

One of the young women who are selling "Votes for Women" badges accosted a man on Thames street, who replied to the solicitation: "No, Sir!" It was a slip of the tongue, but was allowed to stand.

SECRET KEPT FROM GREECE

Fire Control Apparatus Removed From the Idaho and Mississippi.

Certain pieces of apparatus which comprise the vital portions of the American navy's secret system for control of fire of our guns will be removed from battleships Idaho and Mississippi before those vessels are sold to Greece. Naval officers have been somewhat agitated over the prospect that the ships would be delivered just as they stood, with the American secret on board. The purchasers will have no complaint to make, for the proposal to the government was that the ships should be turned over just as they were built, and neither vessel had the present fire control system when it was commissioned.

It is expected that the payment of $12,000,000 for the ships will be made within a day or two. The Mississippi will be delivered at Hampton Roads and the Idaho at Gibraltar. Battleship Maine will sail Wednesday to replace the Idaho on the annual cruise of the midshipmen from Annapolis.

PORTSMOUTH.

Rev. Anson B. Howard Receives Call to St. Michael's Church, Bristol.

[Regular correspondence of The News]

Rev. Anson B. Howard rector of St. Paul's Church, has received a call to St. Michael's Church, Bristol. His rectorship here has been very successful, he having taken in a large number of new members and established a vested choir. The members of the parish will be very sorry to part with him if he decides to accept the call.

Misses Gertrude and Velma Wadsworth of Sanford, Maine, are spending a part of their vacation with their grandparents, Rev. and Mrs. John Wadsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bailey, who have been guests of Mrs. Minot A. Steele, returned Tuesday to their home in Haverhill, Mass.

St. Paul's Guild met Tuesday afternoon, with a good attendance. Final plans were made for their lawn party next week.

Miss Grace Potter of New Bedford is guest for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Ashley on Bristol Ferry road.

FIRST RIDE IN AUTOMOBILE.

Man Motors to Bank After Selling Land to Mr. John D. Rockefeller.

William Wall, one of the oldest residents of Pocantico Hills, who recently lost his position on a railroad, had a small piece of property at Pocantico which Mr. Rockefeller desired. He offered to sell it for $1,000, and Mr. Rockefeller accepted. Mr. Rockefeller also agreed to give Wall employment on his estate.

Mr. Rockefeller sent his automobile to Wall's house and Wall and his wife drove down to Tarrytown, where they went to the lawyer's office and signed the deed. Then the money was turned over and Wall drove to the savings bank, where he deposited the money. The chauffeur waited and took Wall back to his home.

It was the first time in their lives that Wall and his wife had ridden in an automobile. During the day Mr. Rockefeller called and asked Wall how he enjoyed the ride.

"Sure, and I'm willing to ride every day under the same circumstances," said Wall.

INDUSTRIAL CHANGES.

Wage Earners Increasing Faster Than Total Population of the Country.

[American Machinist.]

Astonishing industrial changes have taken place during the past relatively few years. These changes have brought about laws governing shop conditions, such as ventilation, exhaust systems, sanitation, lead poisoning, cleanliness and lighting.

It is of interest to note that the gross population of this country has increased from 5,000,000 in 1800 to 92,000,000 in 1910. The total population has practically doubled in the last 30 years.

The question now naturally arises as to how manufacturing has kept pace with the growth in total population. In the past 30 years the wage earners have increased nearly 200 per cent, while the population has merely doubled. The increased proportion of wage earners to the gross population was only 4 per cent in 1850 over against 7 per cent in 1900.

Looking in another direction we find that the gross value of the manufactured products has quadrupled in the past 30 years, that is, it has increased from a little more than $5,000,000,000 in 1880 to more than $20,000,000,000 in 1910. Finally, the capital invested has increased from $2,000,000,000 in 1870 to $10,000,000,000 in 1900, or by nearly 500 per cent in 30 years.

A summary of these changes shows a most striking condition of affairs. We find that the number of wage earners is increasing annually considerably faster than is the total population of the country, and that the gross value of the manufactured products as well as the total capital invested is increasing out of proportion to the increases in gross population. On the face of these facts, an industrial development in the industrial world becomes clearly apparent. This development, in the light of definite figures, stands out as a large factor in the industrial situation of today as compared with that of, say, 30 years ago.

"TAKE-IT-BACK DAY."

Observance Brings About a Return of All Borrowed Articles.

[New York World.]

The adoption and ratification by the people of Carmen, Okla., of a "Take-it-Back day" as a civic institution is proof that not all the woolly product of that state is wild and unkempt. Some of it, as in this case, is well woven and a yard wide. Such a day is more needed than Flag day or Mother day. Well observed by the nation, it might be almost as good as Thanksgiving.

The point and purpose of "Take-it-Back day" is that every borrower shall on that day return every borrowed article of the past year. There is no exception for books or for umbrellas. Whatsoever thy hand has received from a friendly neighbor during the whole of the by-gone 364 days thou shalt on this one day of the year return to him or to her with thanks and good humor.

It is said in the reports from Carmen of the first day of observance: "Many persons that had grudges against one another took advantage of the general good feeling inspired by the day to make up, and several neighborhood feuds were ended." It is easy to believe. What caller is more welcome than the one who returns a $5 bill or a useful frying-pan?

Perhaps in time we shall have a "Take-it-Back day" for all the country and a special "Give-It-Back day" to which Wall Street will be particularly invited.

PERPETUAL MOTION AGAIN.

[Electrical World.]

A discovery which seems to be the equivalent of perpetual motion was described by Professor Whitehead at a meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers held recently in Detroit. He declared that by subjecting a closed coil of lead wire to practically absolute zero temperature and starting a flow of electricity therein by some external means, Professor Kamerlingh Onnes of Leyden, Germany, has succeeded in maintaining a continuous current without the expenditure of energy. To obtain the extremely low temperature necessary to make the experiment a success the coil was immersed in liquid helium. The current was started in the wire by magnetic induction, the flow of electricity persisting, it is declared, for four and one-half hours after the magnetic influence was removed. It was stated that if the experiment had not been terminated when it was the current would probably have continued to flow indefinitely.

TO WEAR STRAIGHTJACKET.

Cunning Will Try Getting Out at Freebody Park This Evening.

Tuesday night Cunning was at the police station, amusing and astonishing the police officers by the freedom with which he shook off shackles. He also told the men some tricks which some of them thought might be handy for them to know some time.

Having been dared by Robert Clifford to allow the straitjacket at the jail to be put on him, he called at the state's boarding house on Marlborough street this morning and arranged with Deputy Sheriff King to bring that instrument to the park this evening and put it on him. Colonel King has agreed to do so, provided of course the jacket will fit, and that cannot be told until it is tried. Others have tried to get out of the jacket and failed, and there are some who are willing to wager that if it is put on Cunning he will not be able to do it. Cunning himself is sufficiently sanguine of his cunning to announce that he will make the effort at tonight's performance.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. E. R. Morse has gone to New York.

—Mrs. C. B. Anderson and family are at Woodstock, N. H., for the summer.

—Mr. George Oakley of Hope Valley, formerly of this city, is here on a visit.

—Mrs. John H. Caswell has arrived for the season at her Arnold Avenue cottage.

—Captain Vassilief, naval attache of the Russian embassy, and Mme. Vassilief will arrive tonight for the season.

—Some did not need to go to the beach today to see Ruth Law fly. She could be seen from Washington square.

—Steamers Warwick and Pontiac were in this afternoon, with excursion parties from Providence and Pawtucket.

—Mr. W. H. Vanderbilt's little fin keel Caprice II was put overboard from the shipyard this morning and went into commission.

—Mr. and Mrs. Dulaney Howland arrived Tuesday evening at the Thayer cottage, Bellevue avenue, which they have rented for the season.

—The peach season approaches, judging by the quantity of baskets at the depot. With one man having about 10,000 peach trees on the Island, some baskets will be required.

—From the Providence boat comes a report that Everett Babcock, steward of the City of Newport, has been missing since July 4. He was 24 years of age and wore a light grey suit.

—Robert K. Cassatt of Philadelphia, Admiral French E. Chadwick, Charles M. Robinson of New York, Mrs. E. H. G. Slater of Washington and Miss Caroline Foster of Boston registered at the Casino this morning.

—The First Presbyterian Church will have a lawn party on the church lawn July 16 and one will be given on the Hospital grounds July 23 for the benefit of the children's ward. This has become an annual event of considerable importance.

—This morning an automobilist apparently tried to knock over an electric car as it crossed Thames street at Franklin but the car proved an immovable body so far as that particular automobile was concerned. No damage, so far as reported.

—The band concerts in the parks began Tuesday evening at Battery Park. It was the proper location to give a band concert on such a night. It looked and felt and acted like rain, and conditions were about ideal for a Battery Park band concert.

—This noon as a man stepped from the Graham news depot on Franklin street his foot slipped and he fell, re-breaking his knee cap. He was taken to the hospital in the ambulance. He had been off crutches only three days and the leg was not strong enough.

—In the report of the Fourth of July proceedings mention should have been made of the flag-raising at the St. Clare Home. The flag was not big, because the electric wires will not allow the flying of a big one, but it was appropriately hoisted on the morning of the Fourth by a small boy.

—This morning as Henry G. Lynch's automobile turned into Thames street from West Pelham the Peckham Company's wagon, driven by Michael Ahearn, came along and the two touched. Mr. Ahearn was knocked from the seat, but apparently escaped injury, as did both vehicles.

—This afternoon a stranger found a Royal Arcanum charm and turned it over to Officer Casey. Sergeant Schneider telephoned Mr. Percy L. Bailey, asking if he had lost his charm—his R. A. charm was meant. Mr. Bailey did not know he had, but on looking found it was missing. He knew it was found before he knew he had lost it.

—The fishing business seems at a standstill. The Fisheries Company shipped about 100 barrels of scup and the Seaconnet River Oyster Company also shipped, but the new arrivals were few. C. B. Anderson launched his new lobster car Tuesday and power boat Helen has gone into the lobster business.

—The vacation school in the Coddington building, under the auspices of the Charity Organization Society, promises to be a gratifying success. The capacity of the room, 18 pupils, has been reached, and the children are receptive. The teacher is Miss Mary A. Stillman of Providence, a specialist in the kind of work undertaken.

—Travel over the electric roads seems to have improved this morning, for the first time this season and this noon people were waiting in front of the City Hall for a car for the beach. It looks as though the season was on at length. The boats from Providence also brought good numbers this morning and not a few took the trip to Block Island.

—At 10.03 Tuesday evening there was a still alarm for a chimney fire at the residence of Mrs. F. P. Sands on Catherine street. There was no damage, but it was noticed by the inspector in charge that the bell on the First Methodist Episcopal Church did not participate in the alarm. On this bell a number of firemen depend at night, for they live close by.

—A strenuous effort is being made today to complete the track surfacing on Broadway from the One Mile Corner to Bliss road. The weather conditions this morning did not appear favorable, but it was decided to take a chance against the dampness and temperature. As soon as this work is done the gang and asphalt plant will be shifted to Bellevue avenue, in hopes of a week of favorable weather. Only a squegee or wearing coat is required here and with hot, dry weather rapid progress can be made.

RESOLUTE HOLDS THE LEAD.

Points Higher in the Wind, But Not Footing So Fast as Vanitie.

Defiance Has Trouble with Her Rigging and is Obliged to Withdraw.

Working her way out to the starting line, off the Brenton's Reef lightship, for the first of the Newport cup series, this morning, the Defiance, known as the tri-city sloop, developed trouble with her peak halyards blocks and was forced to take in sail and be towed back to her moorings in the harbor. A fine heavy-weather test of the yachts was promised when the Resolute and the Vanitie reached the starting line. A snappy 15-mile southwester swept across the course and the sea was covered with white caps. There was a light fog.

"This is the day we have been looking forward to for some time," said W. Butler Duncan, chairman of the America's Cup committee, who witnessed the race from steam yacht Vanadis.

The course for today's race was a 15-mile thrash to windward and return, the yachts beating toward Block Island on the first leg in a southwesterly direction.

The Defiance was the first to make her appearance at the lightship, carrying mainsail and jib. She got into trouble as soon as she bucked the heavy sea and had difficulty with her peak halyard blocks. Her mainsail flapped in the wind and her jib was taken in. At 10.45 she came about and stood back toward the lightship while the crew tried to adjust the mainsail. After endeavoring to remedy the trouble the attempt was given up and she took a tow from a small steam yacht and stood in for the harbor.

At 11:20 the warning whistle was blown and a white ball hoisted. Ten minutes later the preparatory whistle was blown and a blue peter ball hoisted. The starting whistle was blown at 11:45 and the yachts went over the line in the following order: Vanitie 11:45:27, Resolute 11:45:31.

They split tacks on crossing the line and broke out their baby jibtopsails after crossing. After a short board to port, the Resolute went about on the starboard tack and the two sloops stood far out to sea. Soon after the start the Resolute worked out to weather of her rival and took the lead from the Cochran craft.

The lee rails of the sloops were awash and wave after wave broke over their bows. The wind held true and strong from the southwest and the cup yachts were having their first real test in a smart wind and a tumbling sea.

The Resolute pointed higher in the wind than her rival, but did not appear to foot so fast. Both carried mainsail, forestaysail, jib and gaff topsail.

The yachts were still standing along on the starboard tack at 12:20, with the Resolute holding the lead. Shortly afterward they were lost in the fog.

The promise of the local weather men that today would bring a northwest wind was not sustained by the facts, and instead the wind was still blowing from the southwest this morning. It was not blowing so hard as Tuesday, the seas did not tumble so much outside, and the wind slackened some as the day wore on, but it was always a stiff wholesale breeze.

With the starting gun for the 75-footers fixed for 11:15 and the wind as it was, there was no hurry about leaving the harbor and at 9:50 preparations only were on, but 20 minutes later the big sloops were gone and the other craft on their way, some already outside the fort. Some were slow in starting, but finally everything in the sailing line except a few schooners and the power boats had gone. One or two steam yachts did not leave. The Cape Cod, tender for the Resolute, took out a party of spectators, among whom was the father of "Bob" Emmons of the Resolute.

There was considerable inquiry in places about boats to go out to see the race, but there seemed to be no great rush this morning. Few guests went out on the steam yachts and only two power boats were out with passengers. The H. M. Champion took out a party of photographers and some other passengers and a small party went out on the 20th Century, Captain Champion's other big boat. This boat could have taken many more.

There does not appear to be the interest in the cup yachts which there would be if the Defiance were making a showing. However, inquiries having been made to the New England Steamship Company about a boat to go out to see the races, the company has decided to send the Providence out Saturday, July 18, the last scheduled date for the preliminary racing before the yacht club cruise. She will leave Providence at 9 and here at 11. Agent J. I. Greene received notice of the excursion this morning. If the Defiance is then making any kind of showing, there should be a big party on the boat.

The Defiance came back into the harbor at 11.25. Her sail looked as though something was the matter with both the throat and peak halliard blocks. It looked as though one of the peak halliard blocks had collapsed, and also from the appearance of her sail as though there was some trouble either with her throat halliards or the jaws of her gaff or both. Still, her mainsail was up and she was able to move. Her return was a big disappointment to many who had hoped for a good showing.

Some of the schooners had returned to the harbor by 1 p. m. They probably had all the thrashing they needed by that time.

The parting of a bridle on the gaff of the Defiance is given as the cause for her withdrawal. After lowering her mainsail a man was sent aloft, doing some work.

PLAYGROUND SPORTS.

Cranston Defeats Lenthal in Indoor Base Ball—A Quoit Tournament.

In the first game of the indoor base ball league among the playgrounds Cranston defeated Lenthal at Cranston Tuesday afternoon, by a 29-26 score. Both teams scored in each inning, and the result was in doubt until the last man was out, as Lenthal began a batting rally in the ninth which looked dangerous. Knowe and Mitchell were the battery for the winners, while Larson and Whalen were in the points for Lenthal.

A quoit tournament arranged by Director Underwood of Cranston had the following results: J. Martland and A. N. Mitchell defeated Knowe and Harrington, 21-4, 21-19; A. Mitchel and J. Sproul won over C. Wood and E. Cottrell, 21-11, 21-12; Bailey and Hicks beat Smith and Underwood, 17-21, 21-18, 21-18; Cottrell and Knowe defeated Edward and Braley, 21-16, 21-16.

ARCANUM INITIATION.

Many Candidates to be Presented in Honor of the Supreme Regent.

The members of the Royal Arcanum in Rhode Island and particularly in Newport are looking forward with much pleasurable anticipation to the visit of Supreme Regent Frank B. Wickersham of Harrisburg, Pa., to Coronet Council Friday evening. There has been a lively competition between the Councils of the state in securing applications for membership to be initiated in the class in honor of the supreme regent, and out of the 55 applications received it is expected that at least 50 candidates will be presented. Coronet Council of this city has 26, Conanicut Council of Jamestown 11, Mosshassuck Council of Providence 12 and other applications have been received by Hope and Unity Councils of Providence, Pawtucket Council, Chepiwanoxet Council of Pawtuxet and Narragansett Council of Wickford.

These candidates will be initiated by the officers' degree team of Coronet Council, which has been drilled by Past Regent J. Harry Brown as degree master. It is expected that there will be a large gathering of members of the Arcanum from various parts of the state and the committee has arranged to serve a collation for in the main hall in the Odd Fellows' building, immediately after the degree work.

Supreme Regent Wickersham who will be at Narragansett Pier attending a meeting of the executive committee of the Supreme Council will be met at the Pier by the grand regent of Rhode Island and the regent of Coronet Council, and be brought to Newport by automobile and entertained by representatives of Coronet Council until the meeting in the evening. The time of leaving the Pier and the form of entertainment to be given him depends on the hour when he will be able to leave the meeting of the committee, and the work of the committee will also determine whether other members of the Supreme Council can accompany the supreme regent to Newport.

ALL IN YELLOW.

State Suffragists Sell Souvenirs and "Votes for Women" Banners.

Full of confidence, a delegation from the Woman Suffrage League of Rhode Island arrived on the Mount Hope this morning and immediately began to sell banners with "Votes for Women" inscribed on them; also pencils and fans, all having the suffrage motto and all in yellow, the suffrage color. Others of the party came by trolley and automobiles, and after a rapid tour of the city assembled at "Marble House" this afternoon for the convention of "great women" there.

In the party which arrived on the Mount Hope were Mrs. Emma Brickell and Miss Barrace, state organizers; Miss Nettie E. Bower, secretary; Miss Daisy Sherman, Mrs. Max Abelson, Mrs. Edwin C. Smith, Miss Lyman, state librarian; Mrs. J. W. North and members of the finance committee. The object in selling the souvenirs is to raise money to keep open the suffrage headquarters in Providence. Those doing the selling made headquarters at the postoffice, Washington square, Broadway, Bellevue avenue and the beach.

The flags at the tea house were hoisted this morning and everything was ready for the opening of the conference. There had been some question about the flag-poles standing up under the heavy northeast blow of Monday night, but they stood all right.

NEW YORK LETTER.

Supposed Man-Ape From Finland Said to be the "Missing Link."

Novel Apartment House—A Famous Pump—Wrong "Polo Grounds"—Great Brick Output.

[Correspondence of the News.]

NEW YORK, July 7.—According to a paper read before a large audience in one of New York's universities recently the "Missing Link" was found several weeks ago on Ellis Island, Uncle Sam's official reception room at the port of New York, but he was not allowed to land. This supposed man-ape came from Finland and was deported on account of constitutional inferiority. When he first reached the island he was referred to the psychological laboratory on account of a trembling of the head and a constant side-to-side roving of the eyeballs, known as "nystagmus." He was of average height, but his strength was prodigious. The set of his body, his pendulous arms and long arms forcibly suggested the ape. His gait was rolling and his eyes constantly searched the ground. His features were distorted with a strange grin. His forehead was startlingly receding, his ears much lower than is normal with man, placed exactly in front as an ape's ears. The top of the head was [illegible] round and covered with coarse, wiry hair. The under jaw stuck out far beyond normal and in place of canine teeth he had long fangs that made his lips protrude. The eyebrows were shaggy and the ridges above were unusually prominent. The nose was of the spreading saddle type.

During his examination the Finn was docile and, in a dumb way, good natured. He was unable to talk, the best he could do was a [illegible]-like growl. The [illegible] of each foot was like a thumb and could be used for any purpose the latter could be put to. His hands were ape-like in every particular. The strange man was a telegraph lineman in Finland, and it requires only a slight stretch of the imagination to picture him hanging from the arm of a telegraph pole as his ancestors hung from trees.

The latest thing in the way of apartment houses to be planned in New York is one where the tenants can have as many children as they wish, but there must be no nursemaids to look after them. Children instead will be received in the model nursery and kindergarten on the roof, and they will be taught, fed and cared for by experts at a cost of 50 cents a day, including food. A day nursery and night nursery are included in the plans for the youngest element of apartment house dwellers. They will be in charge of a trained nurse and assistant—one to every five tots. Playtime will be spent in a kindergarten room and an open pergola, whose specially made windows can be shut in raw weather. Sand piles, swings, see-saws and gymnastic apparatus will be there to delight the older children. There will be a kindergarten teacher for every 10 and a primary grade instructor for every 20. The half-grown-up youths and misses, still in the arms-and-legs class, will have a teacher of their own to teach them how to play after school is done. This play expert will lead them in gymnastic exercises and games and will charge their parents $1 a week. There will be a rest room where the littlest folk may take naps and a dining room just for "kiddies."

The meals will be furnished at a cost of 50 cents a day, with a choice from several menus. Service will cost $3 a month per person. This will include the cost of services of all the help, not forgetting an expert dietitian and a superintendent at $1,000 a year. Laundry and mending will be done on the premises at an estimated cost of $6 a month for two persons. A couple, it is estimated, may enjoy the new apartment at a total cost of $85 per month.

The march of progress is demonstrated by the work of the men engaged in excavating for the new subway, has smashed a relief cherished for many years by persons in the lower part of New York city who had patronized an old town pump [illegible] up to five or six years [illegible] on the sidewalk in Trinity place. The story was [illegible] that the [illegible] pump tapped a hidden spring from which came the best and purest water in New York. The [illegible] picks of the subway [illegible] that the [illegible] who traveled from [illegible] to quaff the refreshing water [illegible] leged by [illegible] properties [illegible] kind of water [illegible] tained from [illegible] other world [illegible] drank [illegible] but they didn't know [illegible]

Just below [illegible] unearthed [illegible] pump which [illegible] "sucker" [illegible] ing trough [illegible] ed by a pipe [illegible] was equipped [illegible] matically [illegible] trough was [illegible] trough originally [illegible] but was covered [illegible] three feet when [illegible] in 1871. It was [illegible] pump was installed [illegible] blocks around [illegible] other water, and [illegible] tall buildings were [illegible] days [illegible] their employers.

One of the many [illegible] made at a point [illegible] the recent International [illegible] failed to see the [illegible] of the fact that [illegible] game he sauntered [illegible] and inquired from [illegible] zens who have fixed [illegible] corner the way to the Polo [illegible]. To the average New Yorker [illegible] the street [illegible] means only one thing [illegible] section of New York where the New York Giants play when the [illegible] ball [illegible] what to Americans is known as base ball. Thus the [illegible] was directed to the [illegible] the Cubs and the Giants. He did not discover his mistake [illegible] presented a golf ticket [illegible] grounds. The ticket taker [illegible] realizing that the [illegible] miles away from [illegible] ticket would admit him [illegible] the management. He [illegible] time the stranger reached [illegible] game he would be apt [illegible] crowds coming away. The [illegible] discouraged Englishman returned to his hotel and contented himself watching the scores and instead of the game.

New York city is the leading market for common brick in the United States, hundreds of millions being used annually. The principal source of this supply is the Hudson River region which according to figures gathered by the United States Geological Survey, produced 1,025,300,000 bricks in 1913, valued at $5,636,951. Bergen county, New Jersey, has also contributed largely to the New York market. Connecticut also is at times a factor in the New York brick market. The water transportation enjoyed by the Hudson River yards and those located on the Hackensack and Raritan rivers in New Jersey, however gives them a great advantage, and it is only when prices are high that Connecticut brick can profitably enter New York. [illegible] The principal [illegible] of the brick made in the Hudson River region is and probably always will be in the building industry [illegible] New York. Notwithstanding the [illegible] expenditures for building [illegible] in New York city decreased about 20 per cent in 1913, the number of brick marketed decreased less [illegible] the use of brick [illegible] is expanding and they are also [illegible] extensively [illegible] ever before for other purposes, such as sewers and subways.

WHITNEY CHILDREN POSE.

Large Tablet Shows Them on Favorite Polo Ponies Near Meadow Brook.

A pewter tablet, five feet high and six feet long, of Flora Whitney and Henry Payne Whitney, Jr., who is known familiarly as "Sonny boy," children of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Payne Whitney, has been cast in the bronze foundry of A. Gruffoni & Bros. Co. in Newark, N. J. The sculptor who made the model for the casting is Mr. James Earl Fraser of New York.

The tablet will be shown in the National Academy of Design, and later Mr. Whitney expects to exhibit it in the Paris Salon. It shows the children on their favorite polo ponies, and the picture from which it was taken was made near the Meadow Brook polo fields, the first sitting being nearly seven years ago, since which time the children posed many times for the sculptor.

The zinc composition used in the work was obtained from the island of Magellan, in the southern part of South America. The cost of the tablet will be about $25,000. It is said to be the largest casting of its kind ever made in this country. After it has been exhibited it will be placed in Mr. Whitney's house.

GOOD ROADS LEGISLATION.

Agitation for Federal Improvements Continues in Senate Committee.

Two Propositions Conflict—Vice President Marshall Informed on Indian Question.

(Washington correspondence of the News.)

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Agitation for good roads legislation has [illegible] although it has been many months since the bill appropriating $25,000,000 for the construction of roads passed the House. This measure has been hung up so long in the Senate committee on postoffices and post roads that the conclusion was reached that the Senate would not act this session. This may be true, but there is pressure which will possibly bring the bill out of committee so it can be considered in the next session.

The Senate committee is wrestling with two conflicting propositions for the expenditure of money for good roads. Senator Swanson of Virginia has taken up the Shackleford scheme [illegible] and is urging it with great earnestness. That money would be loaned to the states for the construction of roads used by rural carriers.

The Bourne proposition, which is favored by quite a number of the members of the committee, proposes to loan money to the states, or at least to guarantee the bonds issued for good roads by the states, under which method it is believed a low rate of interest, 2½ or 2¾ per cent can be obtained.

It is proposed to extend this credit to the amount of $1,000,000,000. There are some people who feel that in the end the government will pay that $1,000,000,000, for if any one state should default the rest of them would insist that they be treated equally.

If the good roads measure is reported in the Senate there is going to be a fierce struggle for position and precedence among those who are advocating different measures that are [illegible] considered. Appropriation bills naturally have the right of way. For the next six weeks it is expected that the trust legislation is likely to occupy the attention of the Senate to the exclusion of nearly everything else except appropriation bills. By that time the Senate will be ready to adjourn.

After a long and wearisome discussion on the Indian appropriation bill Vice President Marshall was asked by a friend if he had learned something of the Indian question. "I could write a book," replied the vice president, "or could write a history of the wrongs of the Indians from the first settlement at Jamestown until the present time."

During a discussion of the Choctaw Indians and the appropriation bill Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, who was fighting for the Mississippi Choctaws, and Senator Owen of Oklahoma were in a sharp colloquy when Williams turned around and said to Owen, "Those Mississippi Choctaws are more Indians than you or more than"— Here he hesitated a moment and was looking at Congressman Carter of Oklahoma, who sat near and who is seven-sixteenths Choctaw and Cherokee, and added—"more than any one here. Owen is part Cherokee."

Sparring for time on appropriation bills, Chairman Fitzgerald in reply to what Congress would do before adjournment said, "After the appropriation bills are disposed of I will be in [illegible] as to what will occupy the House the balance of the time." There are a number of appropriation bills which will keep Fitzgerald busy for some time to come, for there is the general deficiency bill to follow the large sundry civil bill.

Senators from Western states are often charged with being antagonistic to conservation and also to giving the [illegible] their rights. Senator Mark Smith pointed out one reason for the [illegible] of the Western men. "Fifty per cent of the state of Arizona," he said, "[illegible] reservations larger than [illegible] New England states. This [illegible] forever from taxation [illegible] people. We are [illegible] nothing but the absolute desert [illegible] [illegible] institutions which are granted [illegible] state. We are obliged [illegible] per head to maintain a state government because so the best parts of the lands are thus withheld and are non-taxable."

A discussion was going on in the House [illegible]

ECZEMA BLOTCHES ITCHED SEVERELY

On Face. So Bad at Night Could Hardly Sleep. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In Two Weeks Trouble Gone.

88 Gooding St., Pawtucket, R. I.—"My face broke out in eczema blotches which itched severely. They were deep red and I could not keep from scratching it at night. It seemed as if I would scratch my face to pieces and they itched so at night I could hardly sleep. I tried different creams and ointments but instead of getting better it seemed worse. After a month I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The itching was so much relieved that I kept on and after two weeks the trouble was gone." (Signed) Miss Ellen S. Whitaker, Jan. 31, 1914.

Samples Free by Mail

For pimples and blackheads the following is a most effective and economical treatment: Gently smear the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment, on the end of the finger, but do not rub. Wash off the Cuticura Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for some minutes. This treatment is best on rising and retiring. At other times use Cuticura Soap freely for the toilet and bath, to assist in preventing inflammation and clogging of the pores, the common cause of pimples, blackheads and other unwholesome conditions of the skin. Although Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold by druggists everywhere, a sample of each with 32-p. Skin Book will be sent free upon request. Address "Cuticura, Dept. MRS. PANKHURST TAKEN TO HOLLOWAY JAIL.

Violent Scene Created on Re-Appearance in Court.

Several Militants Arrested in May, for Conspiracy, Up for Trial.

LONDON, July 8.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst today resumed command of the forces of the Women's Social and Political Union at their London headquarters, but was not permitted to remain there long. She re-occupied the offices at noon without hindrance by the police, although they knew of her intention and had detectives on duty in the vicinity. However, when she emerged from her headquarters to go to luncheon the police pounced on her and took her to Holloway jail.

Simultaneously with the re-appearance of Mrs Pankhurst a violent scene was created in the central criminal court, where Mrs. H. F. Alice Hall, Miss Grace Roe, Miss Julia Jameson and Miss Ellen Armes were brought up for trial for conspiracy. The charge against them was that of "conspiring with others maliciously to commit damage and injury, and to spoil certain real and personal property of the liege subjects of our lord, the king."

The prisoners were arrested during a raid on a West End flat May 21, and in their rooms were found a new shrapnel grenade of ingenious manufacture, a coil of fuse, and plans of houses, with instructions how to reach them and as to the usual movements of the police in the vicinity.

Miss Roe and Mrs. Hall when brought into court, surrounded by women wardens, refused to plead. They threw papers and pens from the prisoners' enclosure and shouted a running commentary on their treatment in Holloway jail. Both of these prisoners complained of having been forcibly fed. They made a violent fight and it took two policemen and five women attendants to carry them out of court to cells below.

The other prisoners pleaded not guilty.

ONE MILITANT CAPTURED.

An Attempt Made to Destroy the Robert Burns Cottage at Ayer.

GLASGOW, Scotland, July 8.—An attempt to destroy the cottage at Ayer, where Robert Burns was born, January 25, 1759, was made just before daylight today by two members of a militant suffragette "arson squad." The two women were surprised by a night watchman as they were in the act of placing large bombs against the doors and windows of the poet's birthplace, which is venerated as a shrine by the Scottish nation. The man captured one of the militants, but the other escaped.

The women wore stockings over their shoes in order to deaden the noise and hide their footprints. The arrested woman gave her name as Janet Arthur. She created a scene when arraigned at the police court, fighting the wardens and shouting quotations from Burns's poems. She was remanded.

HUGE BANNER DISPLAYED.

Militants Try to Attract Their Majesties' Attention in Scotland.

DUMBARTON, Scotland, July 8.—Militant suffragettes made desperate efforts today to attract the attention of King George and Queen Mary, who are making a tour through Scotland. At Balloch Bridge, at the foot of Loch L mnd, the women cut down all the decorations, and at Dalmuir, 10 miles from Glasgow, they managed to break out a huge banner bearing the words "Your Majesty, stop the forcible feeding and torturing of women," across the route as the procession arrived. At the same time one woman, armed with a megaphone, howled denunciations of forcible feeding. Neither the king nor the queen paid the slightest attention, but the crowd who had gathered to see Their Majesties displayed such a hostile attitude that the militants beat a hasty retreat.

AMERICANS TO DEFEND TROPHY.

Excellent Races Promised in Canoe Elimination Trials This Week.

NEW YORK, July 8.—American canoeists are preparing to defend the international canoe trophy, and some excellent races are promised at the elimination trials Friday and Saturday in Gravesend Bay. If other trial races are necessary, they will be sailed next Monday. July 17 and 18 are the dates set for the trophy races.

Ralph Britton of the Gananoque Canoe and Motorboat Club is the challenger. This is the second time he has sought to lift the trophy. Last year he lost to Leo Friede of the Manhattan Canoe Club of this city. The trophy which Britton seeks has been up for competition 28 years. The New York Canoe Club offered the trophy in 1886 as a perpetual challenge sailing trophy. It has been successfully defended since then by American canoeists.

A TEAM COMPETITION.

Five Providence Couples Challenge Newport for Contest at the Beach.

Mr. Fordon, the professional dancer at the beach, has received a challenge from five couples representing Providence, to compete against Newport, in a team contest. He is looking upon the idea with favor and the contest, if the challenge is accepted, will be held at the beach at an early future date. He will select five teams from Newport, coach them individually and as a unit, and from his remarks to a News reporter Newporters need have fear about the result. He says there has been a great improvement in the dancing, even in the short period of two weeks; there are some fine individual dancers, who could be developed into finished performers with a little coaching. It is hoped that some of the good dancers, who have not as yet taken part in these contests, will help out, so that Newport can be well represented in the team competition.

Judging by the amount of interest centered in the dance contest at the beach Thursday night this week's event promises to eclipse former records. For amateurs only, it will consist of a combination one-step and hesitation waltz. It is not the intention of the orchestra to try to trick or confuse contesting couples by continued changes of tempo throughout. There will be only one change, from a one-step to a waltz. As in the previous contests judges will be chosen who are well up in the new dances, and do not know any of the competitors, so that all entries can be treated impartially. The beach orchestra under the direction of Mr. Oscar S. Adler of New York, has promised to give music which will not suffer in comparison with any of the noted orchestras.

DR. FARNUM HONORED.

Osteopath Given Two Places on Program of Philadelphia Convention.

Dr. C. E. Farnum of this city has been given two places on the program of the eighteenth annual convention of the American Osteopathic Association, in Philadelphia the first week in August. He will conduct a clinic in which he will demonstrate the technique of osteopathic treatment for various conditions. Another day he will read a technical paper on "Neurasthenia."

This will be the largest gathering of osteopathic physicians and surgeons ever held in the world. Three thousand are expected and the convention will last the entire week. The sessions will be held in the Bellevue-Stratford, one of the best hotels in the country. "Health Sunday" will be observed in Philadelphia the day before the meetings begin, and the pulpits of various churches will be occupied by osteopaths from other cities. Clinics will be held in the Philadelphia Hospital, the largest institution of its kind in America. A number of other osteopaths from various parts of the state will also attend the sessions.

PELICAN FLIES AWAY.

Bird Fails to Take Kindly to Chinese River at Belmont Tea House.

A report comes from the vicinity of "Marble House" that the display of sea fowl in the Chinese river was not up to the expectations of Mrs. Belmont, because one of the pelicans did not take kindly to the new river. Instead of strolling quietly through its waters, it took to the ampler space of the Atlantic ocean, only a few feet away, and when last seen was making good time toward Seaconnet point, the nearest land in a straight line.

It was not known that Mrs. Belmont contemplated using pelicans for this river; swans and Chinese ducks were the fowl supposed to be in the river. This pelican story may be only the imagining of a warm afternoon after a very chilly storm, but the story still stands that one of the pelicans flew the river.

INJURED IN THE GALE.

From Jamestown comes the report that in the blow of Monday night Mr. Wetherill's Jamestown 25-footer Hyepus was driven up on the beach, but escaped injury. Not so lucky were some others, which dragged and went to pieces or were badly damaged. There is one craft in the lower harbor with her mast carried away, and Tuesday fishing steamer Vigilant brought in a small knockabout with two men and a woman on board. The craft was picked up off shore, and it was well for the occupants it was.

DR. CHAPIN DEAD.

Chaplain of Rhode Island Society of the Cincinnati Passes Away.

Rev. Dr. Henry Barton Chapin, chaplain of the Rhode Island Society of the Cincinnati, died at his summer home Tuesday in White Plains, N. Y., of a complication of diseases. He was born in Rochester, N. Y., 80 years ago. Entering Yale University he was graduated in the class of 1847 and later finished the theological courses in the Union and Princeton seminaries.

For several years Dr. Chapin did pastoral work in New York city missions, following which he had charge of churches in Steubenville, Ohio, and Trenton, N. J. In 1867 he entered the educational field, founding the Collegiate School, New York, later known as the Chapin Collegiate School. He continued that work until 1907, when he retired. He married in February, 1854, Miss Harriet A. Smith, of New York, who died last March, soon after celebrating their sixtieth wedding anniversary.

Dr. Chapin was chaplain of the Society of the Cincinnati of Rhode Island and chaplain general of the General Society of the Cincinnati and for many years recording secretary of the Evangelical Alliance. He was a member of the Sons of the Revolution, and the Presbyterian Union and leaves five sons, four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The deceased was one of the oldest members of the Rhode Island Society of the Cincinnati, having become eligible through his great-grandfather, Colonel William Barton, who was connected with an additional regiment, Rhode Island Continental infantry, and became prominent as the captor of General Prescott at his headquarters in Portsmouth during the Revolution. Dr. Chapin was a regular attendant at the annual meetings of the society here until this year, when his health prevented his coming and participating in the business meeting and commemorative exercises, last Saturday. He was, however, re-elected chaplain of the society.

The wind was blowing a little fresh, [illegible] too strong for good flying, and she rose to quite an elevation so that she was seen from many parts of the city from which it has not heretofore been possible to see attractions given at the beach. This afternoon she is in hopes of going up again and also is expecting Little Elsie, who has [illegible] the rest [illegible] of the long enforced lay-off, proposes to do some diving [illegible] tonight.

Once was the time when "Adam's Ale" meant about anything in the form of water. Anyway, folks in these days are getting mighty particular regarding the purity of their drinking water and with good reason. Population has increased since Adam's time. With population have come all kinds of contaminations to affect our water supplies and several kinds of disease that Adam never dreamed of have been traced to water [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] better [illegible] and pure water.

ADVICE ABOUT HOW TO REMOVE UNSIGHTLY HAIR

Many physicians use the ingredients contained in El Rado for removing hair in connection with their laboratory work. This shows conclusively how perfectly harmless its action is. Thousands of women have discovered this, too, and have learned how totally unnecessary it is to go around with unbeautiful growths on lip, chin, cheek, neck or arms. They apply a few drops of El Rado, the liquid hair remover. Almost instantly the hair vanishes, leaving the skin smooth, velvety and even whiter than before. This is because, positively without the slightest harm, the hair has been dissolved.

El Rado is now a standard toilet article used by thousands of women. [illegible] in asking for and using El Rado than in asking for and using a [illegible] powder. [illegible] El Rado on your arm; prove for yourself that it will do everything claimed. Your money back if you are not entirely satisfied. In 50c and $1.00 bottles at all leading drug and department stores, or direct from the Pilgrim Mfg. Co., New York. Valuable information sent on request. In this city, El Rado is sold and recommended by:

PARCEL POST PLAN OFTEN ABUSED

Some Farmers Think It Offers a Chance to Obtain Large Prices for Products.

A Series of Practical Investigations to be Undertaken by the Housekeepers' Alliance.

[Washington Star.]

It was cupidity that killed the goose that laid the golden egg, and the same vice may make the new parcel post service of but little value to the farmer if he is not careful.

Because certain farmers and others who have farm produce for sale [illegible] that the new service [illegible] brings the customer to their door it is said, they have fallen into the mistaken [illegible] that they are at liberty to charge what they please and [illegible] consumer is helpless in the matter. Their eyes are likely to be opened soon, it is asserted, as the result of a series of practical investigations which are to be undertaken under the auspices of the Housekeepers' Alliance [illegible] in this city.

Shortly after the plan outlined in the Star's story of the possibilities [illegible] parcel post [illegible] by the postal officials and after the article, with additional [illegible] information concerning the [illegible] and methods of the parcel post service, was [illegible] broadcast, letters began pouring in from the [illegible] and other farmers, asking that their products might be listed with those that had already been received, at the Public Library, where housewives go daily to read the prices quoted.

The department [illegible] and soon the list [illegible] Public Library [illegible] valuable proportions [illegible] housekeeper. But then [illegible] a rift in the lute, and [illegible] Housekeepers' Alliance [illegible] is planning to try to mend it.

Tentative plans have been formulated whereby [illegible] clubs will be formed, with three persons to each club, for the purpose [illegible] definitely with [illegible] produce sellers [illegible] reasonable [illegible] under fair terms, which [illegible] packing their products [illegible] by parcel post, and who [illegible] prompt and satisfactory service [illegible] other respects. In this way the entire surrounding country will be [illegible] and from the results of these trials the Housekeepers' Alliance will be in position to give valuable information to Washington housekeepers, and, incidentally, to benefit fair-dealing farmers and others who have supplies for home consumption for sale at reasonable prices and under reasonable conditions.

This action, it is said, has been prompted by the tendency shown in some recent letters received from country produce sellers to charge exorbitant prices, apparently based upon misinformation as to city prices. For instance, one man at Lanesville, Va., writes he will sell three dozen eggs for $1, although the market prices quoted in the Star show that strictly fresh eggs may be obtained in the city markets at from 25 to 28 cents a dozen. Another at [illegible], Md., offers country butter at 40 cents a pound in lots of from one to five pounds, and at 35 cents for larger lots, although the best country butter, according to quotations, is selling here at 30 cents a pound, with medium grades at from [illegible]. A poultry farm at New [illegible], N. J., wants [illegible] cents [illegible] eggs [illegible] of Denver, Pa., offers fresh [illegible] at $1 [illegible]. Still [illegible] at Delaplane, Va., [illegible] at Washington [illegible] cents.

Hence [illegible] cherries, according to yesterday's quotations [illegible] from 25 to 35 cents a quart [illegible] company [illegible] W. Van offers [illegible] of Montmorency cherries [illegible] by parcel post, at [illegible]. This variety, it is stated, is one of the best sour cherries, and excellent for [illegible] and other culinary purposes.

The cherry seller's, however, is not the only reasonable offer. A shipper of clams at [illegible], Va., guarantees to send absolutely good, fresh clams that will reach any destination within the first zone within 24 hours after they are dug from their beds, at [illegible] cents a dozen. He says he has been informed in Washington that such clams [illegible] 25 cents a dozen, that from the way they [illegible] added, "I don't think they had seen water for at least a month." He is [illegible] now shipping [illegible] to consumers in Washington, Baltimore, Annapolis and Hagerstown by parcel post.

A woman at [illegible], Md., has for sale [illegible] at 40 cents a pound [illegible] dozen and [illegible] at 27 cents [illegible] $3.50 [illegible] jars.

A [illegible] from a man at [illegible], has 140 acres [illegible] in the world [illegible] cherry [illegible] wintergreen, [illegible] berry, dandelion, [illegible] lar roots [illegible] boneset [illegible]

Another man [illegible] lambs [illegible] would like [illegible] farm [illegible] of Malvern, Pa., [illegible] and [illegible] parcel post. A [illegible] Va., has [illegible] eggs every week [illegible] a dozen [illegible] for sale at [illegible]

[illegible] from [illegible] wants [illegible] Tacoma and [illegible] beets, blackberries [illegible] flowers [illegible] plants [illegible] of [illegible] pounds [illegible] hams, 16 to 18 [illegible] 28 cents a pound. He guarantees they are "sugar-cured" [illegible] smoked with real smoke [illegible] the first [illegible] establishment [illegible] Marshall, Va., offers "Old Virginia" [illegible] shipped [illegible] packages for 50 cents [illegible] prices paid.

Even [illegible] of the Massachusetts [illegible] College is [illegible] for the [illegible] information obtainable as to the efforts by the Postoffice Department to bring the consumer in closer touch with the farm producer, and the chairman on education of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs has had her attention drawn to the new movement and wishes information in the interest of a gardening and canning school conducted under her supervision.

These letters give some idea of the spread of the information about the movement in which Postmaster General Burleson is said to be deeply interested and [illegible] which Postmaster Praeger has devoted much time and thought.

The action of the Housekeepers' Alliance [illegible] is said to be the first step taken by private individuals and consumers [illegible] this trade between consumers and farm products sellers [illegible]. The experience of many who have found a saving in obtaining their [illegible] of certain articles [illegible] direct from the farm has inspired the belief, it is said [illegible] is a benefit [illegible] first necessary to [illegible] and sometimes [illegible] conditions, and to make [illegible] that fair dealing is an [illegible] to the development of a business that will assure [illegible] produce that is [illegible] or goes to waste, and at the same time result in a saving to the city purchaser.

MISS ALICE DREXEL SUED.

Governess Files Action for Damages in Automobile Accident Here.

[illegible] action for $[illegible] damages has [illegible] in the New York supreme court against Alice Gordon Drexel, daughter of John R. Drexel, as the outcome of an automobile accident in this city in August, 1912, when Miss Drexel was driving. Marie Louise Lagenne, a French governess, formerly in the employ of Miss Drexel, asserts that when she was riding with Miss Drexel the young woman ran into another automobile, throwing the governess out and inflicting injuries which sent her to a sanitarium for six months. Miss Lagenne alleges that Miss Drexel drove "improperly and carelessly." The accident was the same in which George Koschny, the chauffeur, was also injured.

According to Floyd K. Dilenborf, attorney for Miss Lagenne, unsuccessful attempts have been made to serve summons in the action on Miss Drexel ever since the serious nature of Miss Lagenne's injuries was ascertained. He made application to serve the summons by mail at her New York address, 1 East Sixty-second street. This permission was granted.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

Many Cities Successful in Management of Water and Lighting Plants.

[New York Evening Post.]

Though the progress of municipal ownership may have disappointed those who hoped much from it a decade ago, it is still making headway. This is in spite of the development of state control of those very utilities which cities are most tempted to acquire. The American Academy of Political and Social Sciences certifies in the latest of its annals to "a noticeable revival in the movement." In some instances municipal ownership is frankly experimental, as with the plants in Cincinnati, Terre Haute, Schenectady and several Connecticut cities. In some it is [illegible] as with Houston's municipal entertainments and the municipal coal yard of Two Harbors, Mich.; while the many cities that have lately taken over their own water plants may be dismissed without note. But with transportation lines in large cities and lighting plants in smaller, the case is different.

Since January, 1912, Detroit and Bay City, Mich., have voted for municipally owned street railways; San Francisco and Seattle have opened lines; Toledo's present dispute threatens to end in municipal ownership; St. Louis is to vote on a municipal subway this fall, while Chicago has plans to the same end. In the same period Tacoma, Ypsilanti, South Norwalk, Alameda, Duluth, Winnipeg and others have established lighting plants, and Lincoln, Neb., Omaha, Knoxville, Providence, Kansas City, Kan., Topeka, Louisville and Jacksonville, Fla., have either opened or report successful management of water and lighting plants.

This elevated tank is high [illegible] average pressure of about 45 pounds per square inch in [illegible] of the tower site, with a [illegible] minimum pressure of 37 pounds and maximum of 56 pounds per square inch.

ONLY ONE SCRATCH HIT.

two runs in the sixth, when Spingler made the only hit off Beattie. Donahue struck out, but Maloney reached first when hit by a pitched ball, and stole second. Dunn flied to Walling for the second out. Spingler hit a slow roller along the third base line, and beat the ball to first. Spingler went to steal second, and Gerrie's wild throw let Maloney score, after which Spingler scored on the poor throw back from centre field.

A [illegible] by Coffey in the fifth inning kept the Glenwoods from scoring two runs. With runners on second and third and two out, Hamilton made a great [illegible] for a hit, but his line drive was deftly speared by Coffey. The score:

Noon—The movement became more confused later, high class stocks improving, while selling of the Gould group increased. Missouri Pacific fell to 14¾, a new low figure and the 4 per cent collateral and 5 per cent convertible bonds lost 4 and 5 points respectively. Unfavorable reports concerning Missouri Pacific were current, but failed to attract more than passing attention. New Haven repeated its recent low price of 64¾, and Chesapeake & Ohio also was heavy. American Smelting was the strongest feature, rising 2 points, chiefly on short covering. Another gold export of $4,500,000 to Paris was regarded as a special transaction. Bonds, other than those referred to, were irregular. Call money [illegible]. Exchanges, $[illegible]; balances, $[illegible].

FOR REDWOOD LIBRARY.

"Shareholder" Urges Importance of Attending the Annual Meeting.

To the Editor of the News:

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Company of the Redwood Library and Athenaeum occurs next Wednesday. In view of a letter which appeared in the News of October 21, 1913, it has seemed desirable, in addition to the regularly advertised notice of this meeting, in this way [illegible] to call the attention of the shareholders to the importance of attending. Unless a very much larger number of stockholders than usual attend this meeting, the methods of procedure in carrying on the business of the Library, questioned by "A Shareholder" in the letter referred to, cannot be changed. Of late years the attendance has been small, the meetings consisting chiefly of the directors, who are shareholders, and a very few other shareholders, the necessary quorum being obtained by the use of [illegible] proxies secured and kept for this purpose.

If the shareholders take so little interest in their own company as scarcely ever to attend its annual meeting, when the annual reports are presented, giving a full account of the business done during the year, and plans for the next year's work are often presented and discussed to a greater or lesser extent, and directors and other officers are elected, they certainly cannot legitimately question or criticise action taken either at this annual meeting or by the directors at their meetings, whether right or wrong, wise or unwise. If not satisfied with the action of those directors and others, who take interest enough to attend the meeting and do the necessary business of the Library, the shareholders should attend their annual meeting in sufficient numbers and [illegible] matters themselves.

Only one scratch hit was made by the Glenwoods off Beattie Tuesday afternoon at the Vernon Avenue playfield, when the Colonials defeated them, 9-2, in a game featured by his good pitching. In the seven innings played, 12 of the Glenwoods took the count on strikes, and Beattie would have had a shut-out but for errors which allowed runners to reach first and then score. The threatening weather did not affect the players, although it served to keep down the attendance.

The Colonials sewed up the game in the opening inning, when they made two runs on solid hitting. Battery errors and one hit gave the Colonials three tallies in the second. With two down in the fifth Underwood made the only extra-base hit of the game, and then scored on two passed balls. Two more counters were made by the winners in the sixth.

NUEVO LAREDO LIKELY AS SCENE OF PARLEYS.

Constitutionalist Delegates Prefer Neutral Place in Mexico.

Members of Junta Say Carranza's Reply Will Arrive in Short Time.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Mexican territory probably will be chosen for the scene of the proposed conference between Huerta's envoys and Constitutionalist delegates over plans for the establishment of a provisional government, Constitutionalist representatives in Washington today expressed preference for a neutral place in Mexico—probably along the border—for the peace parley. Two of the Niagara mediators, Ambassador Da Gama and Minister Suarez, are to confer in New York today over the details of the meeting. With dissension among the Constitutionalist leaders seemingly near adjustment, members of the revolutionary junta there reported expressions of confidence that the proposed Huerta-Carranza conference would take place.

While the Constitutionalist agents here have not determined on any particular place for the meeting, they wish to divorce the proposed conferences from any relation to the Niagara mediation proceedings, so that Mexican people may thoroughly understand the method by which their new chief executive is agreed upon. Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, has been considered a likely choice for the scene of the parley. It is opposite Laredo, Texas, where quick communication by telegraph and cable can be arranged with Mexico City for the Huerta delegates. Communication southward with Constitutionalists headquarters would be easy.

Members of the Constitutionalist junta said any answer from Carranza as to participation in the conference will arrive within another week.

DENVER LEAVES MAZATLAN.

Reason for Amezcua's Departure for Santa Rosalia Unknown.

ON BOARD U. S. S. CALIFORNIA, Mazatlan, July 7, by wireless via San Diego, July 8.—Governor Amezcua left La Paz today on board steamer Korrigan, bound for Santa Rosalia. The reason for his departure is not known.

Carrying as passengers five Mexican sailors rescued in recent fighting between the Federal and Constitutionalist forces, cruiser Denver left Mazatlan today for San Francisco. The Mexicans will be interned in one of the military prison camps along the border.

COLONEL DENNY DEAD.

Almost Instantly Killed in Fall Over Balustrade at His Home.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Colonel Frank L. Denny, retired, of the marine corps, was almost instantly killed early today when he fell over a balustrade in his home to the floor below. The report to the police said he was walking in his sleep.

Colonel Denny's family believe he was seized with an attack of vertigo, to which he was subject, and fell while moving about the house. He struck his head upon a marble top table, crushing his skull. The colonel's daughter, awakened by the crash, found her father dying where he had fallen.

Colonel Denny was one of the storm centres in a row in the marine corps three years ago, in which it was charged that a number of staff officers in Washington were controlling the corps. Secretary of the Navy Meyer, after an investigation, ordered the officers concerned to distant posts, sending Colonel Denny to San Francisco. Early in his administration President Wilson returned Colonel Denny to Washington. Colonel Denny was prominent in the social and club life of the capital.

HEALTH SITUATION NORMAL.

About 1,325 Persons in the Concentration Camps in Salem.

SALEM, Mass., July 8.—Instead of 4,000 or 5,000, as was generally believed, there were actually only 1,325 men, women and children in the concentration camps established for the persons who lost their homes in the fire of June 25, Mayor Hurley announced today. In a report to Mayor Hurley, following the withdrawal of the state troops late yesterday, Colonel Frank A. Graves, who had been in charge of the camps, stated that the number of people had been greatly overestimated, and that the total was only 1,325.

Except for a few cases of whooping cough and one case of scarlet fever, the health of the tent dwellers was normal, Colonel Graves reported.

Colonel Frank F. Cutting, now in charge, reported that the four camps would be concentrated at Forest River park tonight or tomorrow.

At a meeting of the relief committee of 11 today, the finance subcommittee reported that appeals for assistance had been sent to 6,700 clergymen, 800 theatres, 3,500 lodges, 5,000 individuals, 800 Boards of Trade, 850 Young Men's Christian Associations, 1,200 banks and 37 baseball clubs.

TOTAL SUBSCRIBED $434,900.

Salem's Largest Gift Today from a Relief Committee of Philadelphia.

BOSTON, July 8.—Contributions of more than $22,000 were received today by the treasurer of the fund for the relief of the Salem fire sufferers. The total subscribed up to date is $434,900. The largest gift today, $5,000 came from the Citizen's Permanent Relief Committee of Philadelphia. Subscriptions of $2,000 each came from the people of Worcester and Providence, R. I., $1,500 from Medford and the city of St. John, New Brunswick.

Great Britain to Meet France in Second Round at Wimbledon.

FOLKESTONE, England, July 8.—England today won the doubles match against Belgium in the first preliminary round of the competition for the Dwight F. Davis international lawn tennis trophy and this victory, with their two successes in the singles matches yesterday, gave them the victory in the round.

H. Roper Barrett and T. M. Mavrogordato, the English representatives, defeated W. P. Duvivier and A. G. Watson, the Belgians, in three straight sets—6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

The English team, as a result of this victory, will meet France in the second round at Wimbledon Saturday.

QUESTION AN OPEN ONE.

Roosevelt's Statements Declining to Run for Governor Unchanged.

NEW YORK, July 8.—For two hours today the Progressive leaders of New York state used every argument at their command to force Colonel Roosevelt to agree that he would accept the nomination for governor. After it was all over Colonel Roosevelt said that he had nothing to say at this time, and would not change his previous statements declining to run. It was understood, however, that the question was still an open one.

Ever since his return from Europe Colonel Roosevelt has been receiving letters and telegrams from Progressive leaders in various parts of the country urging him not to accept the nomination. In some instances these messages charged that the New York leaders are willing to run the chance of injuring the party in the union for the sake of making a good showing in this state.

Among those who talked with Colonel Roosevelt were Halbert P. Gardner, national committeeman from Maine and Progressive candidate for governor of that state, and Irving E. Vernon, Progressive state chairman in Maine.

THE NEW HAVEN DISSOLUTION.

Attorney General Still Hopeful of Settlement Without Long Fight.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Although the Department of Justice is prepared to go ahead and file its suit for the dissolution of the New Haven railroad system, Attorney General McReynolds still is hopeful of a settlement without a prolonged fight in the courts. As was announced some time ago, President Wilson and the Attorney General had agreed that the suit should be filed not later than July 15, unless the Massachusetts legislature and the executive committee of the road agreed on certain legislation necessary for disposing of some of the stocks which the government contends are being held in violation of law. Administration officials pin their faith of a settlement without a long fight, on the fact that a new legislature comes into existence January 1. Under ordinary procedure a suit filed this month would not proceed very far by that time and could be halted whenever the necessary legislation for a peaceful settlement was enacted.

FIRST AMENDMENT CARRIED.

LONDON, July 8.—The committee stage of the bill to amend the Irish home rule bill opened today in the House of Lords and will occupy three days. The first Unionist amendment to eliminate the clause of the bill providing for a vote to be taken in each county of Ulster, on the question whether it should be excluded from the operation of the bill, was carried by 158 to 36.

BIG EXPENDITURE NECESSARY.

Imperial Valley in Southern California Threatened by Colorado River.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—The entire Imperial Valley in Southern California is threatened by the flood waters of the Colorado river, according to a statement made today by President William Sproule of the Southern Pacific Company, who has recently returned from the district. Conditions are threatening now, and will be more so if not attended to, he said. "If there is any temporizing with the difficulty, an expenditure of $1,500,000 will have to be made."

PRESIDENT SUPPORTS WARBURG AND JONES.

Wilson's Nominee to Federal Board Urged to Re-Consider.

Unfair to Democratic Party to be Regarded as Enemy of Business.

WASHINGTON, July 8. Declaring that it would be unfair to regard the Democratic party as the enemy of big or little business, President Wilson today gave out a statement in support of Paul M. Warburg of New York and Thomas A. Jones of Chicago, his nominees for the federal reserve board. President Wilson's statement follows:

"It would be particularly unfair to the Democratic party and the Senate itself to regard it as the enemy of business, big or little. I am sure that it does not regard a man as an object of suspicion merely because he has been connected with great business enterprises. I know the business of the country has been chiefly promoted in recent years by enterprise organized on a great scale, and that the vast majority of the men connected with what we have come to call big business are honest, incorruptible and patriotic. The country may be certain that it is clear to members of the Senate, as it is clear to all thoughtful men, that those who have tried to make big business what it ought to be are the men to be encouraged and honored, whenever they respond without reserve to the call of public service.

"I predict with the greatest confidence that nothing done by the Democratic majority of the Senate of the United States will be of a sort to throw suspicion upon such men. Mr. Jones and Mr. Warburg, in manifesting their willingness to make personal sacrifices and put their great experience and ability at the service of the government, without thought of personal advantage, in the organization of a great reform which promises to be so serviceable to the nation, are setting an example of patriotism and of public spirit which the whole country admires.

"It is the obvious business of statesmanship at this point to unite every force for the upbuilding of legitimate business along the new lines which are now clearly indicated for the future."

The President said today that he earnestly hoped Mr. Warburg would re-consider his decision not to accept the nomination and that he was urging him to do so. He expressed confidence that Mr. Jones would be confirmed.

The Senate banking committee had no meeting today, but an opportunity will be afforded tomorrow for a formal motion to withdraw the invitation that Mr. Warburg appear to be questioned. It was said today by members that a majority probably would oppose it. Acting Chairman Hitchcock said no suggestion had reached him from administration officials for withdrawal of the invitation.

The nomination of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago also will be taken up tomorrow. It was not certain today that Mr. Jones would be approved by a majority.

It became known that several members of the committee are not so much interested in the American connections as Mr. Warburg as in any interest he may have in foreign banking houses, and in his foreign investments.

With three members of the board—Charles S. Hamlin, W. P. G. Harding and A. C. Miller—confirmed, the board must soon come into actual existence, as the act creating it provides that members must take the oath and qualify within 15 days after notice of appointments. These three active members of the board, together with the comptroller of the currency and the Secretary of the Treasury, give the necessary five votes out of the total of seven required to pass any measure through the board.

It is known, however, that these five prefer to wait, if possible, until the complete board is named before rushing through organization plans. Several experts have been called upon to outline the steps necessary to create the federal reserve banks in a satisfactory and speedy manner. These reports are ready for the consideration of the new board as soon as it is convened. The designation of one member of the board as governor and another as vice governor will devolve upon President Wilson.

WILSON MEETS BUSINESS MEN.

Industrial and Financial Situation of the Country Discussed.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—An important conference for a discussion of the industrial and financial situation of the country, as well as the administration's anti-trust program was held at the White House today. President Wilson had an engagement to discuss these matters with a delegation of business men representing the Citizens Association of Commerce. The interview had been sought by the Chicagoans.

Tomorrow the President has an engagement with Henry Ford, the Detroit manufacturer; a committee of bankers from Illinois, and a delegation of the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks, who have been holding their annual convention at Atlantic City. The President, it is stated, requested the Association to frame regulations by which the banking laws of the various states will conform to the new federal bank act. The delegation from the Association is expected to report the results of its efforts to the federal reserve board here tomorrow and confer with the President later in the day.

In their interview asking for today's conference with the President the Chicago business men state definitely that they wished to discuss anti-trust legislation, features of which they oppose. The delegation includes representatives of the iron and hardware, grocery, and packing business, dry goods, the banking interests and lawyers.

MITCHEL'S METHODS.

"Business" Administration an Advance for Good Government.

[New York Tribune.]

The real progress which this city has made in good government is measured by the fact that so excellent an administration as Mayor Mitchel has given during his first six months in office is taken for granted.

It is only a short time ago that such appointments as he has made, such indifference to politics as he has shown and such standards of public service as he has maintained would have caused a sensation. The papers would have been full of the administration's doings. And the administration would have been quite conscious of the sensation it was creating. The more honest attention to the city's business. But the Mitchel administration has gone about its work as if front pages did not exist. The ambition to achieve first and talk afterward has been pretty faithfully kept. The mayor is fortunate in possessing a thorough acquaintance with the city's business when he entered office.

There is a professional quality about the present administration which other non-partisan administrations have lacked and this has been characteristic, not only of the mayor's office but of the other branches of the city government. The important board of estimate and apportionment is largely made up of men who are trained municipal administrators. And the mayor has been able to surround himself with department heads of a new type, men who have either learned the city's business in office or through attention to it in civic organizations, making its affairs their constant study. This administration thus started out with more men having special knowledge of the duties before them than any other in the city's history. We have talked a good deal in the past of a "business" administration of New York. A much better ideal is a municipal business administration—one in the hands of men who are not merely good private business men but good city business men, who understand thoroughly in advance the special business which is before them in office. Mayor Mitchel has brought sensibly nearer that ideal.

Every non-partisan mayor of New York has advanced the standards of government here. It seems certain that Mayor Mitchel will contribute toward the forward movement. A public which takes such an administration as his for granted is not likely soon again to put up with one of the Van Wyck sort.

UNCLAIMED DEPOSITS.

Statute for Payment Said to be in Violation of the Constitution.

The constitutionality of the statute providing for the payment of unclaimed deposits in savings banks to the state is raised in two cases certified by Presiding Justice Tanner of the superior court to the supreme court. The law, passed by the General Assembly in 1909, relates to accounts between depositors and savings banks upon which no entries of deposit or withdrawal have been made within 20 years. On petition of the attorney general deposits on such accounts, after advertising, shall be paid into the hands of the state treasurer.

In petitions against the People's Savings Bank of Providence and the Providence County Savings Bank of Pawtucket the questions of constitutionality have been raised. In the former case Herbert Almy intervenes as a depositor and says the law is in conflict with the provisions of the charter of the bank, which provides that the interest of unclaimed deposits after 20 years shall be divided among the other depositors. This charter provision becomes a part of the contract with depositors, Mr. Almy claims, and the statute violates the constitution, which guarantees the right of contract.

In the other case it is contended that the statute is in violation of the constitution of the United States and of Rhode Island. The statute is in chapter 401 of the Public Laws, passed at the January session, 1909. It conflicts with section 1, article 14 of the constitution of the United States and with sections 1 2 and 16 of article 1 of the state constitution, it is claimed, in that it deprives persons of property without due process of law.

ESCAPES TO AMERICA.

Russian Girl, Banished From Own Country, Reaches United States.

[The Survey.]

Sentenced to Siberia for life, Marie Sukloff, now at 25 years of age one of the most feared of Russian revolutionists, began as a girl of 18 the immemorial march to exile first made by the priest Avvakum in 1653 and increasingly trod ever since by the feet of religious and political nonconformists until the yearly average of exiles have swelled to 20,000.

In the village of Alexandrovskoye, 3,500 miles from home and 150 miles from a railway station, none of the villagers were prone to regard all exiles as dangerous and bad, so her prospects for companionship seemed slight.

The government gave her eight rubles a month, or $4 for living expenses. The vigilance of the officials toward her, very constant at first, was relaxed as the days went by. She seemed too young and timid to escape. Once again the government was being blind. It had made her a revolutionist; it did not know to what lengths she would go. One night three months after her arrival at Alexandrovskoye she was helped by peasants to get safely out of the village.

She started to walk home, but again the peasants came to her aid. For 50 cents they let her ride a long way in their carts, and this became the chief mode of travel. Villages are few and far between in Siberia and the peasants, and the peasants, when going to market, often travel day and night without coming to one. So huts have been built along the road as way stations. In these Marie slept sometimes, but often a whole night was passed on the cart, sleeping or pushing on.

She finally escaped to Paris. Imprisonment and exile have made her an impassioned revolutionist. She returned to Russia to take part in the uprising of 10 years ago, was again sent to Siberia and finally escaped to America.

COST OF MOTORING LOWER.

Prices of Cars, Gasoline and Tires Show Downward Tendency in Price.

Conditions Right to Stimulate the Manufacturing Business for Coming Season.

[Writer in Boston Transcript.]

Facing a combination of favorable conditions and circumstances, the like of which has never before been seen, the automobile trade is about to enter upon a new season, which, barring extraneous disturbance, should result in a notable development of business. Three things that enter into the calculations of every motorist, and upon which he in large part bases his decision whether he will purchase a new car, are at present showing a decided downward tendency in price. These are the motor cars themselves, tires and fuel. All three are cheaper than they were a year ago, when the 1914 selling season began, and there is apparently no reason to expect that for some time to come the price tendency will be reversed.

The automobile manufacturers have reached the point where competition is driving them to adopt methods of manufacture which make possible reductions in the price of their products. In the old days, when automobiles were being developed rapidly and changed greatly, the prices rose year by year, and there was no question because each succeeding year's product was vastly better than its predecessor. There came a time when the mechanism was standardized in important particulars and refinement began; then attention was turned to the body work and finish; and for the past few years accessories have engaged the attention of the industry. The result was that while the motor car as a mere machine became steadily cheaper to produce, the other things that the public wanted, the other body, more comfortable upholstery, the conveniences of equipment, including electric appliances, kept the prices at a fairly even level, with in most cases only small reductions.

This year, however, the manufacturers have reached the point where cars cannot be improved except in small details, and with no necessity of making radical changes in design, or adding any expensive equipment, they are in a position to scale down prices. And this is what is going on at the present time. The cars of the 1915 series from many a factory will show a decided lowering in price from last season.

Not enough manufacturers have so far announced their plans for the new series of cars to make it a safe statement that there will be a widespread general reduction in prices. But of the announcements that have been made so many contain a lower figure as the selling price, that it may almost be taken for granted that this will be the feature of the new season.

Next to the cars themselves the motorist is most concerned in the cost of tire equipment, for that is the largest single item of maintenance, exceeding even that of fuel. For several years the tire manufacturers have been gradually shading their prices and today the best known makes of tires are far lower in cost than they were even a year ago. In three years one of the largest manufacturers has cut tire prices almost in halves. As an example, three years ago a 36x4 tire of a certain make with non-skid tread was priced at $59.25; today the same sized tire with a non-skid tread claimed to be much better than the old type, sells for $27.75. Tire manufacturers are building great additions to their plants, and with no immediate danger of an increase in the cost of raw materials or of labor the conditions seem to be right for a continued reduction in prices. The motorist who drove a small car three years ago and who had to pay about $22 for his tires now can buy them for about $16.

Just when the motoring public had made up its mind that it must stand a steadily advancing cost of gasoline, having become convinced that the matter was being regulated by the inexorable economic law of supply and demand, with the supply decreasing and the demand increasing, the price of gasoline began to tumble. Last summer, when gasoline at most garages sold for 20 cents a gallon and at some for 25 cents, there was much discussion over the subject, and various movements and investigations were started, with the hope of discovering some other fuel. Almost everybody admitted that not enough gasoline could be produced to supply the motor cars and other consumers of this fuel, and that the price must inevitably go on up and up until it became so high that some other fuel would have to be developed.

Then suddenly crude oil prices began to go down, and they have been going down ever since, until today there are few garages that are asking over 18 cents for gasoline, while there are plenty along the roadside that try to lure the motorist with signs proclaiming gasoline for sale at 17, 16 and even 15 cents. Those who buy in quantity pay no more than 11 cents and under certain conditions it is reported that oil companies are making contracts as low as 12½ cents. People who are well informed say that there is a fair prospect that the price may go lower. At the same time the cost of lubricating oil has been lowered.

With inducements such as these, there is every reason to expect that a large number of people who have been holding off from buying cars because of the cost of "high cost of maintenance" will come into the market, and that when selling really gets going the latter part of the summer it will be very brisk.

Some Reasons Why Not

THERE are many reasons why the small merchant should not sit back and let the mail order houses take the cream of his out of town trade. One of them is the parcel post service. Under the zone system of postal rates every merchant within the limits of his own territory may now develop a mail order business on his own account. He can ship goods much cheaper and much more expeditiously than any concern outside his district.

Every merchant should at once begin an educational campaign of advertising, teaching the people within reach of his influence that it is less expensive, quicker and infinitely more satisfactory to make their purchases near home than to send elsewhere.

Mutual Insurance.

We have always maintained that Mutual Insurance should be judged by its weakest link. In other words, that should a conflagration take place where it has the most insured, almost invariably in its home town, it should have enough surplus to look after its losses and plenty besides.

The Holyoke Mutual commenced business in 1843 in Salem, but its business is so well divided through New England that while it suffered a loss of $225,000 in the late conflagration, it will still have left a surplus of $450,000 and had the whole city of Salem burned, the Holyoke would still have had a good surplus.

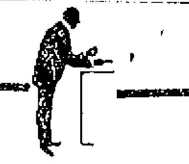

The Quincy, another Mutual which we can recommend, suffered but $7,500 loss in Salem. Its surplus January 1st, 1914, over all liabilities was $549,809.77.

Rear Admiral William H. H. Southerland, whose most recent duty was as president of the naval plucking board, will be placed on the retired list July 10 next, when he will reach the statutory age limit. This retirement will cause the promotion of the following officers to the next higher grades: Captain Charles A. Gove, Commander Charles E. Hughes, Lieutenant Commander Thomas T. Craven and Daniel W. Wurtzbaugh, who is an additional number; Lieutenant Harry A. Baldridge, and Lieutenant, junior grade, Charles S. Slayton.

These promotions will leave as seniors in their respective grades Captain DeWitt Coffman, Commander Edward L. Beach, Lieutenant Commander Ralph Earle, Lieutenant William L. Pryor and Lieutenant, junior grade, Irving M. Mayfield.

After July 10 next no retirements for age will occur in the line of the navy until December 15 next, when Rear Admiral Reginald F. Nicholson reaches the retiring age. Rear Admiral Nicholson was formerly chief of the bureau of navigation and was recently assigned to the general board, following his completion of a tour of duty in command of the Asiatic squadron.

Robinson, Richard T. Keiran and Ralph W. Needham, to be lieutenants.

HOW TO COOK HAM.

Soaking Over Night in Spiced Liquor Adds Greatly to Its Flavor.

To have served on her table a juicy, tender ham, whose delicate pink slices, seem to literally melt in one's mouth, is the aim of every good housekeeper, yet few realize that the cooking of the ham has almost as much to do with this desirable result as the quality of the ham itself.

Almost all hams are greatly improved by being soaked over night. First wash the ham thoroughly with cold water, using a small scrubbing brush; then lay in an oval granite-ware kettle, cover with cold water and add one white onion, stuck with whole cloves, two bay leaves, three stalks of chopped celery, a blade of mace and two broken sticks of cinnamon.

Allow to stand in the water with the vegetables and spices over night and in the morning set the kettle over a moderate fire, so that the water may heat gradually. It should not reach the boiling point for at least two hours. Skim carefully and simmer gently, allowing 15 minutes for each pound of ham, from the time it begins to simmer. Let cool in the spiced liquor in which it has been cooked. When cold remove from the water and take off the rind without cutting the fat, drush the fat over with beaten egg, sprinkle thickly with dried bread crumbs and place in a quick oven for about 15 minutes to form a crisp brown crust. Serve on a large platter garnished with parsley.

If the ham is to be served hot, it is removed from the water when cooked and, after the rind has been removed, it is covered with egg and crumbs and browned immediately. Serve surrounded with a border of vegetable flowers and tiny potato balls that have been sprinkled with chopped parsley.

GERMANS TO COMPETE.

Lawn Tennis Team to Meet Australians in Davis Cup Contests.

The German Lawn Tennis League has again decided to take part in the competitions for the Dwight F. Davis international trophy and will send a team to the United States to meet the Australians. Early in the year Germany sent a challege for the cup, but a few weeks later notified the United States National Lawn Tennis Association that it would withdraw the challenge. This caused much disappointment, and Otto Froitzheim, the German champion, who is in the best of form, is now endeavoring to induce Robert Kleinschroth to accompany him to the United States if Friedrich Rahe and Henry Kleinschroth should be prevented from doing so.

The dates set for the challenge round, August 12, 14 and 15, at the West Side Club, will remain unchanged.

A cablegram has been received from France, as follows: "Accept Longwood, Decugis, Germot, Fanlin, Montariol." This signifies that the Longwood courts are acceptable to the French and that Montariol has been substituted on the team for J. Samezerich.

BECAUSE OUR MOTHERS DREAMED.

[Glad Madame, in Ainslee's.]

Because our mothers dreamed we may have hope;
Facing the dawn and pain with lovely eyes,
Seeing the rapture where the shadow lies—
Because our mothers dreamed we may have hope.

Because our mothers dreamed we may have love,
Casting their hearts at young things everywhere,
Finding such selfish service all their care—
Because our mothers dreamed we may have love.

Because our mothers dreamed we may have God;
Exultingly, creation as their goal,
Molding out flesh from flesh and soul from soul—
Because our mothers dreamed we may have God!

PERSONALS.

....With 16 children whose weights total more than a ton Mrs. John W. Laird of Garfield, Wash., has a claim to one of the largest families in the Northwest. The mother weighs 135 pounds. Her heaviest son, 20 years old, weighs 295, and three others 245 each. The youngest child is 10, the oldest 35, and the total weight of the 16 is 2,085 pounds, an average of 208. Her sons are students at Washington State College, Pullman.

....After 17 years' absence, in which time his wife had re-married and she and his son had died, John H. P. Endress has returned to Philadelphia suddenly from the West and asked the Pennsylvania courts to re-establish his identity. He asks that a recent decree declaring him legally dead be vacated, and will immediately begin a fight to obtain possession of a family estate valued at some thousands of dollars.

....Not content with giving millions of money to cities, Andrew Carnegie may be induced to part with $75,000,000 or $100,000,000 to build libraries in country districts, according to Philander P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, who is attending the convention of the National Education Association at St. Paul. Mr. Claxton has discussed the matter with Mr. Carnegie, and while he has no authority to say that Mr. Carnegie will contribute any sums which may be desired, he recommends that counties take action and make applications for assistance.

....James H. Hustis, president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, was Tuesday elected president of the Boston & Maine railroad, succeeding Morris McDonald, who recently resigned. Mr. Hustis's election becomes effective August 15. In the meantime he will continue in the New Haven's presidency until the return of Howard Elliott, chairman of the New Haven directors, from a vacation trip in the Maine woods. When Mr. Hustis leaves the New Haven it is expected that Mr. Elliott, besides continuing as chairman of the board, will be given the title of president. No announcement was made regarding Mr. Hustis's salary in his new position. The Boston & Maine presidency has been carrying an annual salary of $35,000, the same which Mr. Hustis has been receiving from the New Haven since last September.

COST OF PENSIONS.

Reduction by Death of Veterans Decreases Governmental Expenses.

[Pittsburgh Post.]

The cost of military pensions to the government of the United States, which reached its summit in the fiscal year now ending, is expected to begin to go down, and will undoubtedly go down rapidly unless the payments paid to individual pensioners are again increased by Congress.

During the first 10 months of the present fiscal year the number of Civil War veterans on the pension list decreased from 562,000 to 425,000 and 5,000 additional names will be dropped by the time the year ends. The pension estimates for the next fiscal year are, therefore, fixed at $149,000,000, as against $180,000,000 for the present fiscal year. Eleven millions of dollars does not seem much when compared with $149,000,000, but it is a considerable sum, and adding to it the reduction anticipated in the next 12 months, the decrease in this branch of governmental expenses should equal the sums raised by the income corporation tax.

It is interesting to note in connection with this expense of $180,000,000 for military pensions in the present fiscal year the sums paid out by other war-like nations for the same purposes. Germany paid out only $139,000 in the past year; Great Britain, $157,848. Russia and Japan, the two nations that engaged in the bloodiest war since our Civil war, plainly have no money to spare for pensions. Japan's expense last year was $7,009; that of Russia $4,257.

THE NEW REPUBLICAN LEADER.

There seems to be a feeling in the Republican ranks that the change recently made in the chairmanship of the state central committee will mean better things for the party in the approaching campaign. That confidence may be well placed. Joseph P. Burlingame, the new chairman, has had considerable experience in political affairs in the state and has been in close enough touch with the leaders for many years to be familiar with the men and the policies of the party. That will go far toward giving him success in his new work, but is not sufficient to make him entirely successful in guiding the party machinery and reconciling the differences among members. For a full measure of success along those important lines it is essential that he shall have the hearty and complete support of the other prominent men in the organization and that they shall work harmoniously with him for the advancement of the common interests.

No one can lead a political party aright without the support of the other leading men. This is particularly true in this state at the present time, when for some years there has been a division of opinion among the leaders and would-be leaders and a lack of harmony which has resulted sometimes quite disastrously and would have been more serious if the Democrats had not been in the same or even worse condition as regards a superabundance of men aspiring to be leaders. Mr. Burlingame has the opportunity to strengthen the party and place it on a better footing than it has occupied for the past few years, but all his efforts will be unavailing to that end if he is not given the sincere support of the prominent men in the body.

General Brayton had the power to hold the organization together by his own forcefulness, but it will probably be many years before another such man will hold the reins in any party in this state, if such an one, indeed, ever shall arise again. Hence it behooves the Republican leaders to work together if they desire to continue to control the state government.

A FAIR VIEW OF THE COLOMBIAN ISSUE.

Mr. Du Bois is uncommonly well informed on the Colombian issue, that of our conduct 11 years ago in the Panama episode, and is as likely to be impartial as anybody. At the time of the so-called revolution in Panama he was an official in the Department of State. Later, under President Taft he was minister to Colombia. His information cannot be regarded as partial. He is a Republican, and therefore without the political temptation of a Democrat to misrepresent the action of a Republican administration in 1903.

He deplored the action of President Roosevelt and Secretary Hay in 1903 and is warmly in favor of the treaty negotiated by the present administration. Not only is this treaty substantially like the one which President Taft had negotiated, but in its essential feature it repeats a settlement offered by Elihu Root, with the approval of Theodore Roosevelt. That was an offer of indemnity and was open to the charge of being blackmail as the money offered under the pending treaty.

The two main facts on which Mr. Du Bois takes issue with Colonel Roosevelt, on which the former is abundantly corroborated by records within the reach of all who care to look for them, are that the revolution was not spontaneous but the work of a handful of persons, mostly foreigners, and the people of the isthmus knew nothing about it until it was all over; and that the success of the revolution was credited to President Roosevelt's interference to prevent Colombia from suppressing it, that country not being allowed to send its troops within 50 miles of Panama or the railroad.

Other features of significance are that an American officer in uniform raised the flag of the so-called revolution and its success was announced to the Department of State by an American consul six hours before it occurred. These are some of the reasons why a large proportion of Americans deeply regret our part in separating Panama from Colombia and feel that some sort of amends are due from us. The regret expressed in the pending treaty is scarcely more than the common diplomatic form, and the money offered is certainly not blackmail, for Colombia has no power whatever to extort anything from us.

THE TWO WILLIAMS.

There seems to have been much uncertainty about the resignation of George Fred Williams. It was reported to have been called for, but it appeared not to have been received and it was not perfectly clear that it had been sent. The most plausible explanation of all this is that George Fred sent it, but Secretary Bryan withheld it.

There is equal uncertainty about the other William of Wied. He is constantly reported as about to leave Durazzo, and sometimes is said to have fled to an Austrian man-of-war, and sometimes to be in the field against the insurgents. It seems not unlikely that the movements of the two Williams may depend each on the other.

For example, William of Wied may be dodging around in an effort to avoid contact with William of Dedham, who has stigmatized his reign as one of murder. On the other hand William of Dedham may be waiting in Athens for the other William to flee, with a view of proceeding to Durazzo and assuming office as Mpret, the title which those who can pronounce it conferred upon the Prince of Wied.

It is quite possible that the kind people in Washington did not care to take one job away from George Fred until he can secure another, and were willing to give him a chance to resign in order to obtain more exciting if not a better position, rather than hurt his feelings by announcing that he had been fired. If the Albanians fire William of Wied, why should not William of Dedham accept the position of stepfather of this squalling and refractory infant nation, and walk the floor with it while his predecessor is going back to his own country without a crown, but with a head, which is much more important? The original Bryan man in Massachusetts would be let down easily by the announcement from the White House, the Secretary of State being on a lecture tour, that Mr. George Fred Williams had resigned the position of minister to Greece and Montenegro in order to accept the more exhilarating office of Mpret of Albania.

TRUCK FARMING FOR CHILDREN.

In several cities in the north part of Michigan there are truck farms worked by children. Details of the plan are not at hand, but the work is done by the aid of experts from the state agricultural college. The farms are maintained by the cities and are in a sense public institutions—their aim is the instruction of children in the raising of vegetables and fruits, thus making them familiar with the simpler features of agricultural work. It is a part of the movement general all over the country, to make public school education practical and vocational. This takes various forms in different places, but it all tends to the one end of fitting children so that when they leave school they will be prepared for some useful work, of which they will have learned at least the rudiments.

The feature of this truck farm work is that it is different from the usual form of vocational work in cities. There is, however, in the northern part of Michigan much opportunity for employment and much demand for the products of such farms, so that the instruction of school children in that work is wise and useful.

GERMAN BENEFICIARY SOCIETIES.

The working people of Germany evidently appreciate beneficiary societies. It is stated apparently with authority that in 1912 they received from such organizations the sum of $[illegible],000,000. That is a large amount and shows clearly that the working people of Germany believe in being protected in their occupations. Such organizations here are well patronized, but not to any such extent as that.

It is a wise faith, however, for those who are employed to provide against the proverbial rainy day, and it would be well if people of that class in this country would show a larger appreciation of the opportunities afforded by beneficiary societies, and thus be better prepared for lack of employment when it comes as it is almost certain to do sooner or later. The Germans are a wise and frugal people and this fact is evidenced very fully by the patronage they give to beneficiary societies.

The reported decision of Attorney General McReynolds to institute a suit in equity asking for the dissolution of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, has been delayed pending action by the Massachusetts legislature regarding the separation of the New Haven and the Boston & Maine and by the railroad company themselves. The present move is due directly to the refusal of the directors of the road to sell the Boston & Maine stock under the terms required by the Massachusetts legislature. As a similar suit was prepared by the Attorney General's office last October and the papers are already prepared there need be little further delay in beginning the court proceedings.

New York is to try the experiment of training in forestry boys who have been put in its reformatory. One hundred are to be set at work in the Palisades interstate park, to learn the business under trained instructors. The plan is to be tried under the direction of Miss Davis, commissioner of corrections, who has found that much of the benefit which might be derived from the reformatory supervision is lost because there is no interesting employment for the boys. The study of forestry ought to prove attractive to them.

The members of the lower branch of the Massachusetts legislature do not like to be limited in the number of bills they can introduce during a session. The senate passed a measure restricting each member of the house to five and each member of the senate to 10 bills, and the total number to 1,000, but the house of representatives refused to agree and there will be no limit in the future. The senate was modest in asking only twice as many per man as were allotted to the house.

As anticipated, Salem will not ask for relief. The Massachusetts legislature, before it adjourned Tuesday night, voted a grant of $100,000 from the state funds and authorized the city to exceed its debt limit in issuing bonds for re-building. The people of the state by individual contributions had already contributed considerably more than $120,000 for Salem's relief.

Woman suffrage has met a setback in Alabama, where the house committee on constitutional amendments decided, five to four, to report adversely a bill giving women the right to vote in state and county elections. The legislature may, however, vote against the report of the committee. The women will not give up yet.

One of the young women who are selling "Votes for Women" badges accosted a man on Thames street, who replied to the solicitation: "No, Sir!" It was a slip of the tongue, but was allowed to stand.

SECRET KEPT FROM GREECE

Fire Control Apparatus Removed From the Idaho and Mississippi.

Certain pieces of apparatus which comprise the vital portions of the American navy's secret system for control of fire of big guns will be removed from battleships Idaho and Mississippi before those vessels are sold to Greece. Naval officers have been somewhat agitated over the prospect that the ships would be delivered just as they stood, with the American secret on board. The purchasers will have no complaint to make, for the proposal to the government was that the ships should be turned over just as they were built, and neither vessel had the present fire-control system when it was commissioned.

It is expected that the payment of $12,000,000 for the ships will be made within a day or two. The Mississippi will be delivered at Hampton Roads and the Idaho at Gibraltar. Battleship Maine will sail Wednesday to replace the Idaho on the annual cruise of the midshipmen from Annapolis.

AN OUTRAGE ON PUBLIC DECENCY.

[New York Sun]

A public funeral in memory of the anarchists who met a terrible death through their own crime would be a disgrace to the city. The offence which these men were preparing was of an unspeakable degree of turpitude. It was not a blow at wealth as they pretend but at social order, civilization, humanity.

The miscreants who approve the project and desire to praise it may go into their own dens and give vent to their malignity for the benefit of such perverts of reason and right as may choose to listen, but to allow the public streets to be used to eulogize public enemies is unthinkable. No permit can be issued for such a purpose. No toleration can be given it. As well grant a license for the crime itself as for the defence and celebration of it.

The municipal authorities are right in sternly forbidding this outrage. The police will have public opinion behind them without limit in the steps they may take in the way of prevention.

FIRST RIDE IN AUTOMOBILE.

Man Motors to Bank After Selling Land to Mr. John D. Rockefeller.

William Wall, one of the oldest residents of Pocantico Hills, who recently lost his position on a railroad, had a small piece of property at Pocantico which Mr. Rockefeller desired. He offered to sell it for $3,000, and Mr. Rockefeller accepted. Mr. Rockefeller also agreed to give Wall employment on his estate.

Mr. Rockefeller sent his automobile to Wall's house and Wall and his wife drove down to Tarrytown, where they went to the lawyer's office and signed the deed. Then the money was turned over and Wall drove to the savings bank, where he deposited the money. The chauffeur waited and took Wall back to his home.

It was the first time in their lives that Wall and his wife had ridden in an automobile. During the day Mr. Rockefeller called and asked Wall how he enjoyed the ride.

"Sure, and I'm willing to ride every day under the same circumstances," said Wall.

INDUSTRIAL CHANGES.

Wage Earners Increasing Faster Than Total Population of the Country.

[American Machinist.]

Astonishing industrial changes have taken place during the past relatively few years. These changes have brought about laws governing shop conditions, such as ventilation, exhaust systems, sanitation, lead poisoning, cleanliness and lighting.

It is of interest to note that the gross population of this country has increased from 5,000,000 in 1800 to 92,000,000 in 1910. The total population has practically doubled in the past 50 years.

The question now naturally arises as to how manufacturing has kept pace with the growth in total population. In the past 50 years the wage earners have increased nearly 300 per cent, while the population has merely doubled. The increased proportion of wage earners to the gross population was only 4 per cent in 1850 over against 7 per cent in 1900.

Looking in another direction we find that the gross value of the manufactured products has quadrupled in the past 30 years, that is, it has increased from a little more than $5,000,000,000 in 1880 to more than $20,000,000,000 in 1910. Finally, the capital invested has increased from $2,000,000,000 in 1870 to $10,000,000,000 in 1909, or by nearly 500 per cent in 39 years.

A summary of these changes shows a most striking condition of affairs. We find that the number of wage earners is increasing annually considerably faster than is the total population of the country, and the gross value of the manufactured product as well as the total capital invested is increasing out of proportion to the increases in gross population. On the face of these facts, an unusual development in the industrial world becomes clearly apparent. This development, in the light of definite figures, stands out as a large factor in the industrial situation of today as compared with that of, say, 30 years ago.

"TAKE-IT-BACK DAY."

Observance Brings About a Return of All Borrowed Articles.

[New York World.]

The adoption and ratification by the people of Carmen, Okla., of a "Take-it-Back day" as a civic institution is proof that not all the woolly product of that state is wild and unkempt. Some of it, as in this case, is well woven and a yard wide. Such a day is more needed than Flag day or Mother day. Well observed by the nation, it might be almost as good as Thanksgiving.

The point and purpose of "Take-It-Back day" is that every borrower shall on that day return every borrowed article of the past year. There is no exception for books or for umbrellas. Whatsoever thy hand has received from a friendly neighbor during the whole of the by-gone 364 days thou shalt on this one day of the year return to him or to her with thanks and good humor.

It is said in the reports from Carmen of the first day of observance: "Many persons that had grudges against one another took advantage of the general good feeling inspired by the day to make up, and several neighborhood feuds were ended." It is easy to believe. What caller is more welcome than the one who returns a $5 bill or a useful frying-pan?

Perhaps in time we shall have a "Take-It-Back day" for all the country and a special "Give-It-Back day" to which Wall Street will be particularly invited.

PERPETUAL MOTION AGAIN.

[Electrical World.]

A discovery which seems to be the equivalent of perpetual motion was described by Professor Whitehead at a meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers held recently in Detroit. He declared that by subjecting a closed coil of lead wire to practically absolute zero temperature and starting a flow of electricity therein by some external means, Professor Kamerlingh Onnes of Leyden, Germany, has succeeded in maintaining a continuous current without the expenditure of energy. To obtain the extremely low temperature necessary to make the experiment a success the coil was immersed in liquid helium. The current was started in the wire by magnetic induction, the flow of electricity persisting, it is declared, for four and one-half hours after the magnetic influence was removed. It was stated that if the experiment had not been terminated when it was the current would probably have continued to flow indefinitely.

TO WEAR STRAIGHTJACKET.

Cunning Will Try Getting Out at Freebody Park This Evening.

Tuesday night Cunning was at the police station, amusing and astonishing the police officers by the freedom with which he shook off shackles. He also told the men some tricks which some of them thought might be handy for them to know some time.

Having been dared by Robert Clifford to allow the straitjacket at the jail to be put on him, he called at the state's boarding house on Marlborough street this morning and arranged with Deputy Sheriff King to bring that instrument to the park this evening and put it on him. Colonel King has agreed to do so, provided of course the jacket will fit, and that cannot be told until it is tried. Others have tried to get out of the jacket and failed, and there are some who are willing to wager that if it is put on Cunning he will not be able to do it. Cunning himself is sufficiently sanguine of his cunning to announce that he will make the effort at tonight's performance.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. E. R. Morse has gone to New York.

—Mrs. C. B. Anderson and family are at Woodstock, N. H., for the summer.

—Mr. George Oakley of Hope Valley, formerly of this city, is here on a visit.

—Mrs. John R. Caswell has arrived for the season at her Arnold Avenue cottage.

—Captain Vassilief, naval attache of the Russian embassy, and Mme. Vassilief will arrive tonight for the season.

—Some did not need to go to the beach today to see Ruth Law fly. She could be seen from Washington square.

—Steamers Warwick and Pontiac were in this afternoon, with excursion parties from Providence and Pawtucket.

—Mr. W. H. Vanderbilt's little fin keel Caprice II was put overboard from the shipyard this morning and went into commission.

—Mr. and Mrs. Delaney Howland arrived Tuesday evening at the Thayer cottage, Bellevue avenue, which they have rented for the season.

—The peach season approaches, judging by the quantity of baskets at the depot. With one man having about 10,000 peach trees on the island, some baskets will be required.

—From the Providence boat comes a report that Everett Babcock, steward of the City of Newport, has been missing since July 4. He was 24 years of age and wore a light grey suit.

—Robert K. Cassatt of Philadelphia, Admiral French E. Chadwick, Charles M. Robinson of New York, Mrs. E. H. G. Slater of Washington and Miss Caroline Foster of Boston registered at the Casino this morning.

—The First Presbyterian Church will have a lawn party on the church lawn July 16 and one will be given on the Hospital grounds July 23 for the benefit of the children's ward. This has become an annual event of considerable importance.

—This morning an automobilist apparently tried to knock over an electric car as it crossed Thames street at Franklin but the car proved an immovable body so far as that particular automobile was concerned. No damage, so far as reported.

—The band concerts in the parks began Tuesday evening at Battery Park. It was the proper location to give a band concert on such a night. It looked and felt and acted like rain, and conditions were about ideal for a Battery Park band concert.

—This noon as a man stepped from the Graham news depot on Franklin street his foot slipped and he fell, re-breaking his knee cap. He was taken to the hospital in the ambulance. He had been off crutches only three days and the leg was not strong enough.

—In the report of the Fourth of July proceedings mention should have been made of the flag-raising at the St. Clare Home. The flag was not big, because the electric wires will not allow the flying of a big one, but it was appropriately hoisted on the morning of the Fourth by a small boy.

—This morning as Henry G. Lynch's automobile turned into Thames street from West Pelham the Peckham Company's wagon, driven by Michael Ahearn, came along and the two touched. Mr. Ahearn was knocked from the seat, but apparently escaped injury, as did both vehicles.

—This afternoon a stranger found a Royal Arcanum charm and turned it over to Officer Casey. Sergeant Schneider telephoned Mr. Percy L. Bailey, asking if he had lost his charm —his R. A. charm was meant. Mr. Bailey did not know he had, but on looking found it was missing. He knew it was found before he knew he had lost it.

—The fishing business seems at a standstill. The Fisheries Company shipped about 100 barrels of scup and the Seaconnet River Oyster Company also shipped, but the new arrivals were few. C. H. Anderson launched his new lobster car Tuesday and power boat Helen has gone into the lobster business.

—The vacation school in the Coddington building, under the auspices of the Charity Organization Society, promises to be a gratifying success. The capacity of the room, 18 pupils, has been reached, and the children are receptive. The teacher is Miss Mary A. Stillman of Providence, a specialist in the kind of work undertaken.

—Travel over the electric roads seems to have improved this morning, for the first time this season and this soon people were waiting in front of the City Hall for a car for the beach. It looks as though the season was on at length. The boats from Providence also brought good numbers this morning and not a few took the trip to Block Island.

—At 10:01 Tuesday evening there was a still alarm for a chimney fire at the residence of Mrs. F. P. Sands on Catherine street. There was no damage, but it was noticed by the inspector in charge that the bell on the First Methodist Episcopal Church did not participate in the alarm. On this bell a number of firemen depend at night, for they live close by.

—A strenuous effort is being made today to complete the track surfacing on Broadway from the One Mile Corner to Bliss road. The weather conditions this morning did not appear favorable, but it was decided to take a chance against the dampness and temperature. As soon as this work is done the gang and asphalt plant will be shifted to Bellevue avenue, in hopes of a week of favorable weather. Only a squeegee or wearing coat is required here and with hot, dry weather rapid progress can be made.

RESOLUTE HOLDS THE LEAD.

Points Higher in the Wind, But Not Footing So Fast as Vanitie.

Defiance Has Trouble with Her Rigging and is Obliged to Withdraw.

Working her way out to the starting line, off the Brenton's Reef lightship, for the first of the Newport cup series, this morning, the Defiance, known as the trinity sloop, developed trouble with her peak halyards blocks and was forced to take in sail and be towed back to her moorings in the harbor. A fine heavy-weather test of the yachts was promised when the Resolute and the Vanitie reached the starting line. A snappy 15-mile southwester swept across the course and the sea was covered with white caps. There was a light fog.

"This is the day we have been looking forward to for some time," said W. Butler Duncan, chairman of the America's Cup committee, who witnessed the race from steam yacht Vanadis.

The course for today's race was a 15-mile thrash to windward and return, the yachts heading toward Block Island on the first leg in a southwesterly direction.

The Defiance was the first to make her appearance at the lightship, carrying mainsail and jib. She got into trouble as soon as she bucked the heavy sea and had difficulty with her peak halyard blocks. Her mainsail flapped in the wind and her jib was taken in. At 10:35 she came about and stood back toward the lightship, while the crew tried to adjust the mainsail. After endeavoring to remedy the trouble the attempt was given up and she took a tow from a small steam yacht and stood in for the harbor.

At 11:30 the warning whistle was blown and a white ball hoisted. Ten minutes later the preparatory whistle was blown and a blue peter ball hoisted. The starting whistle was blown at 11:45 and the yachts went over the line in the following order: Vanitie 11:45:27, Resolute 11:45:31.

They split tacks on crossing the line and broke out their baby jibtopsails after crossing. After a short board to port, the Resolute went about on the starboard tack and the two sloops stood far out to sea. Soon after the start the Resolute worked out to weather of her rival and took the lead from the Corinthian craft.

The lee rails of the sloops were awash and wave after wave broke over their bows. The wind held true and strong from the southwest and the cup yachts were having their first real test in a smart wind and a tumbling sea.

The Resolute pointed higher in the wind than her rival, but did not appear to foot so fast. Both carried mainsail, forestaysail, jib and gaff topsail.

The yachts were still standing along on the starboard tack at 12:20, with the Resolute holding the lead. Shortly afterward they were lost in the fog.

The promise of the local weather men that today would bring a northwest wind was not sustained by the facts, and instead the wind was still blowing from the southwest this morning. It was not blowing so hard as Tuesday, the seas did not tumble so much outside, and the wind slackened some as the day wore on, but it was always a stiff wholesale breeze.

With the starting gun for the 75-footers fixed for 11:15 and the wind as it was, there was no hurry about leaving the harbor and at 9:50 preparations only were on, but 20 minutes later the big sloops were gone and the other craft on their way, some already outside the fort. Some were slow in starting, but finally everything in the sailing line except a few schooners and the power boats had gone. One or two steam yachts did not leave. The Cape Cod, tender for the Resolute, took out a party of spectators, among whom was the father of "Bob" Emmons of the Resolute.

There was considerable inquiry in places about boats to go out to see the race, but there seemed to be no great rush this morning. Few guests went out on the steam yachts and only two power boats were out with passengers. The H. M. Champlin took out a party of photographers and some other passengers and a small party went out on the 20th Century. Captain Champlin's other big boat. This boat could have taken many more.

There does not appear to be the interest in the cup yachts which there would be if the Defiance were making a showing. However, inquiries having been made to the New England Steamship Company about a boat to go out to see the races, the company has decided to send the Providence out Saturday, July 18, the last scheduled date for the preliminary racing before the yacht club cruise. She will leave Providence at 9 and here at 11. Agent J. I. Greene received notice of the excursion this morning. If the Defiance is then making any kind of showing, there should be a big party on the boat.

The Defiance came back into the harbor at 11:25. Her sail looked as though something was the matter with both the throat and peak halliard blocks. It looked as though one of the peak halliard blocks had collapsed, and also from the appearance of her sail as though there was some trouble either with her throat halliards or the jaws of her gaff or both. Still, her mainsail was up and she was able to move. Her return was a big disappointment to many who had hoped for a good showing.

Some of the schooners had returned to the harbor by 1 p. m. They probably had all the tumbling they needed by that time.

The parting of a bridle on the gaff of the Defiance is given as the cause for her withdrawal. After lowering her mainsail a man was seen aloft, doing some work.

PLAYGROUND SPORTS.

Cranston Defeats Lenthal in Indoor Base Ball—A Quoit Tournament.

In the first game of the indoor base ball league among the playgrounds Cranston defeated Lenthal at Cranston Tuesday afternoon, by a 26-20 score. Both teams scored in each inning, and the result was in doubt until the last man was out, as Lenthal began a batting rally in the ninth which looked dangerous. Knowe and Mitchell were the battery for the winners, while Larson and Whalen were in the points for Lenthal.

A quoit tournament arranged by Director Underwood of Cranston had the following results: J. Maitland and A. N. Mitchell defeated Knowe and Harrington, 21-6, 21-15; A. Mitchel and J. Sprout won over C. Wood and E. Cottrell, 21-11, 21-12; Bailey and Hicks beat Smith and Underwood, 17-21, 21-18, 21-18; Cottrell and Knowe defeated Edward and Braley, 21-10, 21-16.

ARCANUM INITIATION.

Many Candidates to be Presented in Honor of the Supreme Regent.

The members of the Royal Arcanum in Rhode Island, and particularly in Newport, are looking forward with much pleasurable anticipation to the visit of Supreme Regent Frank B. Wickersham of Harrisburg, Pa., to Coronet Council Friday evening. There has been a lively competition between the Councils of the state in securing applications for membership, to be initiated in the class in honor of the supreme regent, and out of the 58 applications received it is expected that at least 50 candidates will be presented. Coronet Council of this city has 26, Conanicut Council of Jamestown 11, Mooshassuck Council of Providence 12 and other applications have been received by Delphi and Unity Councils of Providence, Pawtucket Council, Chappoquonsett Council of Pawtuxet and Narragansett Council of Wickford.

These candidates will be initiated by the officers' degree team of Coronet Council, which has been drilled by Past Regent J. Harry Brown as degree master. It is expected that there will be a large gathering of members of the Arcanum from various parts of the state and the committee has arranged to serve a collation for 400 in the main hall in the Odd Fellows' building, immediately after the degree work.

Supreme Regent Wickersham, who will be at Narragansett Pier attending a meeting of the executive committee of the Supreme Council, will be met at the Pier by the grand regent of Rhode Island and the regent of Coronet Council, and be brought to Newport, be automobiled and entertained by representatives of Coronet Council until the meeting in the evening. The time of leaving the Pier and the form of entertainment to be given him depends on the hour when he will be able to leave the meeting of the committee, and the work of the committee will also determine whether other members of the Supreme Council can accompany the supreme regent to Newport.

ALL IN YELLOW.

State Suffragists Sell Souvenirs and "Votes for Women" Banners.

Full of confidence, a delegation from the Woman Suffrage League of Rhode Island arrived on the Mount Hope this morning and immediately began to sell banners with "Votes for Women" inscribed on them; also pencils and fans, all having the suffrage motto and all in yellow, the suffrage color. Others of the party came by trolley and automobiles, and after a rapid tour of the city assembled at "Marble House" this afternoon for the convention of "great women" there.

In the party which arrived on the Mount Hope were Mrs. Emma Brickell and Miss Barracle, state organizers; Miss Nettie E. Bower, secretary; Miss Daisy Sherman, Mrs. Max Abelson, Mrs. Edwin C. Smith, Miss Lyman, state librarian; Mrs. J. W. North and members of the finance committee. The object in selling the souvenirs is to raise money to keep open the suffrage headquarters in Providence. Those doing the selling made headquarters at the postoffice, Washington square, Broadway, Bellevue avenue and the beach.

The flags at the tea house were hoisted this morning and everything was ready for the opening of the conference. There had been some question about the flag-poles standing up under the heavy northeast blow of Monday night, but they stood all right.

NEW YORK LETTER.

Supposed Man-Ape From Finland Said to be the "Missing Link."

Novel Apartment House—A Famous Pump—Wrong "Polo Grounds"—Great Brick Output.

(Correspondence of the News.)

NEW YORK, July 7.—According to a paper read before a large audience at one of New York's universities recently the "Missing Link" was found several weeks ago on Ellis Island, Uncle Sam's official reception room at the port of New York, but he was not allowed to land. This supposed man-ape came from Finland and was deported on account of constitutional inferiority. When he first reached the island he was referred to the psychological laboratory on account of a trembling of the head and a constant side-to-side roving of the eyeballs, known as "nystagmus." He was of average height, but his strength was prodigious. The set of his body, his pendulous abdomen and long arms forcibly suggested the ape. His gait was roving and his eyes constantly searched the ground. His features were distorted with a strange grin. His forehead was startlingly receding, his ears much lower than is normal with man, placed exactly, in fact, as are an ape's ears. The top of the head was bullet round and covered with coarse, wiry hair. The under jaw stuck out far beyond normal, and in place of canine teeth he had long fangs that made his lips protrude. The eyebrows were shaggy and the ridges above were unusually prominent. The nose was of the spreading saddle type.

During his examination the Finn was docile and, in a dumb way, good natured. He was unable to laugh, the best he could do was a beast-like growl. The big toe of each foot was like a thumb and could be used for any purpose the latter could be put to. His hands were ape-like in every particular. The strange man was a telegraph lineman in Finland, and it requires only a slight stretch of the imagination to picture him hanging from the arm of a telegraph pole as his ancestors hung from trees.

The latest thing in the way of apartment houses to be planned in New York is one where the tenants can have as many children as they wish, but there must be no nursemaids to look after them. Children instead will be received in the model nursery and kindergarten on the roof, and they will be taught, fed and cared for by experts at a cost of 50 cents a day, including food. A day nursery and night nursery are included in the plans for the youngest element of apartment house dwellers. They will be in charge of a trained nurse and assistant—one to every five tots. Playtime will be spent in a kindergarten room and an open pergola, whose specially made windows can be shut in raw weather. Sand piles, swings, see-saws and gymnastic apparatus will be there to delight the older children. There will be a kindergarten teacher for every 10 and a primary grade instructor for every 20. The half-grown-up youths and misses, still in the arms-and-legs class, will have a teacher of their own to teach them how to play after school is done. This play expert will lead them in gymnastic exercises and games and will charge their parents $1 a week. There will be a rest room where the littlest folk may take naps and a dining room just for "kiddies."

The meals will be furnished at a cost of 53 cents a day, with a choice from several menus. Service will cost $3 a month per person. This will include the cost of services of all the help, not forgetting an expert dietitian and a superintendent at $2,000 a year. Laundry and mending will be done on the premises at an estimated cost of $6 a month for two persons. A couple it is estimated, may enjoy the new apartment at a total cost of $85 per month.

The march of progress, as demonstrated by the work of the men engaged in excavating for the new subway, has smashed a belief cherished for many years by persons in the lower part of New York city who long patronized an old "town pump," which up to five or six years ago stood on the sidewalk in Trinity place. The story was that the pipe of the old pump tapped a bubbling spring from which came the "best and purest water" in New York. The shovels and picks of the subway makers disclosed that the former slummers of city water who traveled from far and near to quaff the refreshing well water, alleged by many to possess medicinal properties, had drunk of the same kind of water as they could have obtained from any tap in the city. In other words, the patrons of the pump drank "psychological" spring water, but they didn't know it.

Just below the surface the diggers unearthed the top of a round wooden pump which ran down several feet, its "sucker" end standing in an old watering trough. The trough was connected by a pipe with the city mains and was equipped with a valve that automatically shut off the flow when the trough was filled. The watering trough originally stood on the surface, but was covered to a depth of about three feet when the street was raised in 1871. It was then that the wooden pump was installed. Folks for many blocks around refused to drink any other water, and office boys from the tall buildings were kept busy on hot days trotting to the old pump for their employers.

One of the many Englishmen who made it a point to be in New York for the recent international polo match failed to see the first game because of the fact that on the day of the game he sauntered out on Broadway and inquired from one of those citizens who have fixed posts on every corner the way to the Polo Grounds. To the average New Yorker found at the street corners along Broadway at 2 p. m. the term "Polo Grounds" means only one thing, namely the section of New York where the New York Giants play what the English call "glorious rounders," but what to Americans is known as base ball. Thus the visiting Englishman was directed to the battle ground of the Cubs and the Giants. He did not discover his mistake until he presented a polo ticket to the base ball grounds. The ticket taker at the gate, realizing that the Englishman was miles away from the gate where the ticket would admit him, broke the news gently. He added that by the time the stranger reached the polo game he would be apt to find the crowds coming away. Therefore, the discouraged Englishman returned to his hotel and contented himself by watching the scoreboard instead of the game.

New York city is the leading market for common brick in the United States, hundreds of millions being used annually. The principal source of this supply is the Hudson River region which according to figures gathered by the United States Geological Survey, produced 1,025,308,000 bricks in 1913, valued at $5,636,051. Bergen county, New Jersey, has also contributed largely to the New York market. Connecticut also is at times a factor in the New York brick market. The water transportation enjoyed by the Hudson River yards and those located on the Hackensack and Raritan rivers in New Jersey, however gives them a great advantage, and it is only when prices are high that Connecticut brick can profitably enter New York City market. The principal use of the brick made in the Hudson River region is and probably always will be in the building industry of New York. Notwithstanding the fact that the expenditures for building operations in New York city decreased about 25 per cent in 1913, the number of brick marketed decreased less than half as much, thus showing that the use of brick in building is expanding and they are also being used more extensively then ever before for other purposes, such as sewers and subways.

CAPTAIN RUST FAVORED.

Re-Instatement to Active List Considered by Senate Committee.

Captain Armistead Rust, U. S. N., who was placed on the retired list as a captain July 1, 1912, the day before he was eligible for promotion to that rank, has won a favorable report from the sub-committee of the Senate naval affairs committee, which has been considering his case. A bill for Captain Rust's re-instatement to the active list has already passed the House, his retirement being attacked on the ground that it was without sufficient justification.

Captain Rust is the author of several works on navigation in use in the navy, and is said to be especially efficient as a theoretical and practical navigator. A new range finder which he invented has been installed on battleship Delaware.

WHITNEY CHILDREN POSE.

Large Tablet Shows Them on Favorite Polo Ponies Near Meadow Brook.

A pewter tablet, five feet high and six feet long, of Flora Whitney and Henry Payne Whitney, Jr., who is known familiarly as "Sonny boy," children of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Payne Whitney, has been cast in the bronze foundry of A. Griffoul & Bros. Co., in Newark, N. J. The sculptor who made the model for the casting is Mr. James Earl Frazer of New York.

The tablet will be shown in the National Academy of Design, and later Mr. Whitney expects to exhibit it in the Paris Salon. It shows the children on their favorite polo ponies, and the picture from which it was taken was made near the Meadow Brook polo fields, the first sitting being nearly seven years ago, since which time the children posed many times for the sculptor.

The zinc composition used in the work was obtained from the island of Magellan, in the southern part of South America. The cost of the tablet will be about $25,000. It is said to be the largest casting of its kind ever made in this country. After it has been exhibited it will be placed in Mr. Whitney's house.

BLOCK ISLAND DROWNING.

Three Men From Dredge Tiger Lose Their Lives in Old Harbor.

The drowning of three men in Old Harbor, Block Island, Tuesday night, was reported today. The victims were James Collins, believed to be a resident of Fall River; Joseph Bean and Propidio Alearn, whose homes are not known. The men were employed on dredge Tiger, owned by C. M. Cole of Fall River. Collins was night watchman and Alearn cook. They were returning to the barge from a shore visit, when their boat was capsized within 150 yards of the beach. The bodies were recovered today.

GOOD ROADS LEGISLATION.

Agitation for Federal Improvements Continues in Senate Committee.

Two Propositions Conflict—Vice President Marshall Informed on Indian Question.

(Washington correspondence of The News.)

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Agitation for good roads legislation has not ceased, although it has been many months since the bill appropriating $25,000,000 for the construction of roads passed the House. This measure has been hung up so long in the Senate committee on postoffices and post roads that the conclusion was reached that the Senate would not act this session. This may be true, but there is pressure which will possibly bring the bill out of committee so it can be considered at the next session.

The Senate committee is wrestling with two conflicting propositions for the expenditure of money for good roads. Senator Swanson of Virginia has taken up the Shackleford $25,000,000 bill and is urging it with great earnestness. That money would be loaned to the states for the construction of roads used by rural carriers.

The Bourne proposition, which is favored by quite a number of the members of the committee, proposes to loan money to the states, or at least to guarantee the bonds issued for good roads by the states, under which method, it is believed, a low rate of interest, 2½ or 2¾ per cent can be obtained.

It is proposed to extend this credit to the amount of $1,000,000,000. There are some people who feel that in the end the government will pay that $1,000,000,000, for if any one state should default the rest of them would insist that they be treated equally.

If the good roads measure is reported in the Senate there is going to be a fierce struggle for position and precedence among those who are advocating different measures that are still to be considered. Appropriation bills naturally have the right of way. For the next six weeks it is expected that the trust legislation is likely to occupy the attention of the Senate to the exclusion of nearly everything else except appropriation bills. By that time the Senate will be ready to adjourn.

After a long and wearisome discussion on the Indian appropriation bill Vice President Marshall was asked by a friend if he had learned something of the Indian question. "I could write a book," replied the vice president, "I could write a history of the wrongs of the Indians from the first settlement at Jamestown until the present time."

During a discussion of the Choctaw Indians and the appropriation bill Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, who was fighting for the Mississippi Choctaws, and Senator Owen of Oklahoma were in a sharp colloquy when Williams turned around and said to Owen, "Those Mississippi Choctaws are more Indians than you or more than"— Here he hesitated a moment and was looking at Congressman Carter of Oklahoma, who sat near and who is seven-sixteenths Choctaw and Cherokee, and added—"more than any one here. Owen is part Cherokee.

Sparring for time on appropriation bills, Chairman Fitzgerald in reply to what Congress would do before it adjourned said, "After the appropriation bills are disposed of I will be indifferent as to what will occupy the House the balance of the time." There are a number of appropriation bills, which will keep Fitzgerald busy for some time to come, for there is the general deficiency bill to follow the large sundry civil bill.

Senators from Western states are often charged with being antagonistic to conservation and also to giving the Indians their rights. Senator Mark Smith pointed out one reason for the feeling of the Western men. "Fifty per cent of the state of Arizona," he said, "making reservations larger than all of the New England states, has been withheld forever from taxation by the people. We are left nothing but the absolute desert to go to for the selection of our lands for the public institutions which are granted under the legislation making us a state. We are obliged to tax our people heavily to maintain a state government because the best parts of the lands are thus withheld and are non-taxable."

A discussion was going on in the House over the methods of procedure. The discussion was not really in order, and Congressman Bryan of Washington made the point, saying, "Surely at this rate we shall get into a wrangle, and then we will get into trouble." There is not much difference between a "wrangle" and "trouble" in the House. They are often the same thing.

ECZEMA BLOTCHES ITCHED SEVERELY
On Face. So Bad at Night Could Hardly Sleep. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In Two Weeks Trouble Gone.
88 Gooding St., Pawtucket, R. I.—"My face broke out in eczema blotches which itched severely. They were deep red and I could not keep from scratching it at night. It seemed as if I would scratch my face to pieces and they itched so at night I could hardly sleep. I tried different creams and ointments but instead of getting better it seemed worse. After a month I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The itching was so much relieved that I kept on and after two weeks the trouble was gone." (Signed) Miss Ellen S. Whitaker, Jan. 31, 1914.

Samples Free by Mail
For pimples and blackheads the following is a most effective and economical treatment: Gently smear the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment, on the end of the finger, but do not rub. Wash off the Cuticura Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for some minutes. This treatment is best on rising and retiring. At other times use Cuticura Soap freely for the toilet and bath, to assist in preventing inflammation and clogging of the pores, the common cause of pimples, blackheads and other unwholesome conditions of the skin. Although Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold by druggists everywhere, a sample of each with 32-p. Skin Book will be sent free upon request. Address "Cuticura, Dept. MRS. CARMAN ARRESTED.

Wife of the Doctor Taken into Custody for Murder of Mrs. Bailey.

FREEPORT, N. Y., July 8.—Mrs. Edwin Carman was arrested this afternoon in connectio with the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey.

The inquest into the death of Mrs. Bailey, mysteriously murdered on the night of Tuesday, June 30, in the office of Dr. Edwin V. Carman, a practicing physician of this village, was closed shortly before noon today. No verdict was immediately announced, but one was expected later in the day.

Ellsworth Bardes, a new witness, testified just before the hearing closed that he had seen a woman whom he was unable to identify, running away from the doctor's office shortly after the shot which killed Mrs. Bailey was fired. She wore a dark skirt and white shirt waist.

Witnesses testifying at previous sessions of the inquest swore that Mrs. Carman was thus garbed on the night of the murder. She has maintained, however, that she was dressed in a kimono and in her bedroom. In this contention Mrs. Carman was borne out on the stand today by her young daughter, Elizabeth.

The district attorney informed the coroner after the inquest that he believed the woman should immediately be arrested and held for the murder.

FEW CLUES TO WORK ON.

Wakefield Police Investigate Partial Wrecking of House by Bomb.

WAKEFIELD, Mass., July 8.—An investigation of the partial wrecking of the home of Richard S. Stout on Bennett street by a bomb, thrown through the kitchen window early today, has been started by the police, but with few clues to work on. The police believe that the explanation of the attack on Stout was to be found in the fact that he partially re-opened the cane-splitting department of the Heywood Brothers and Wakefield chair factory, which had been closed because of a strike. Mr. Stout is foreman of the cane-splitting department and the arrival of a shipment of material about a week ago necessitated employment of about 20 men by him.

The explosion occurred shortly before 2 a. m. William J. Stout, a son, who was aroused by the sound of breaking glass, awakened his father and another son, George H. Stout. While the three listened for further sounds of the supposed burglars there was a sudden explosion, which shook the house, sent pictures and bric a brac smashing to the floor, and blew out many of the windows and doors on the ground floor. Mr. Stout and his sons and a housekeeper, Mrs. Ellen Gage, who were the only persons in the house, escaped injury.

Neighbors awakened by the explosion hurried to the house, but no sign of the bomb thrower was found and the police, who started their investigation at daylight, were unable to find any traces to indicate who was responsible. The police are satisfied that the explosion was due to a charge of dynamite, for the force of the explosion was downward, several of the big cellar beams beneath the kitchen being split and the water and gas pipes in the cellar being broken. In the kitchen the windows were carried away, sashes and all, while in other parts of the house only the glass was shattered. Every door on the lower floor was torn from its hinges. Mr. Stout estimated the damage at $1,000.

In the residence of Frank B. Lucas, adjoining the Stout home, pictures were shake from the walls and other damage was done. The Wakefield Home for Aged Women is just across the street and for a time there was considerable excitement among the dozen inmates.

STRIKE SITUATION UNCHANGED.

Former Westinghouse Employe Rescued After a Severe Beating.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 8.—Stanley Piatek, formerly employed in one of the Westinghouse factories, last night told some of his friends jokingly, but afterward declared, that he was going back to work today. Soon after midnight he was rescued by the crew of a street car from three men in Braddock avenue, who had beaten him into insensibility. Two arrests were made.

There was no change today in the situation in the strike district. Company officers said they had more men in the shops than at any time since the strike was called.

Intense excitement followed the first daylight disorder of the strike, when William Strange, a foreman in the electric works, was stopped by a crowd of men as he approached the shops by an obscure path. His skull was fractured by a brick and he was otherwise injured. State troopers were hurried to the place and three arrests were made.

COMPLAINTS IN FALL RIVER.

Union Weavers to Meet Manufacturers Association Representatives.

FALL RIVER, July 8.—As a result of complaints entered by union weavers at 18 shop meetings held in this city against present working conditions in mills controlled by the Fall River Cotton Manufacturers' Association, a conference is slated to take place this afternoon between a committee from the union weavers and representatives of the manufacturers' association. The union weavers have been dissatisfied with some of the working conditions imposed for the past nine months and during that time many shop meetings have been held. Failure of some of the corporations to remedy conditions have resulted in the conference this afternoon.

EN ROUTE TO MONTANA.

Spopee, Blackfoot Indian, Free After Long Imprisonment.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Free after imprisonment of nearly a third of a century among lunatics, Spopee, a Blackfoot Indian, was on his way today from the government hospital for the insane to his reservation in Montana. In the care of an Indian bureau official, Spopee was to go direct to Browning, Mont., where Commissioner Sells has promised he will have a "square deal." The Blackfoot was pardoned by President Wilson after persistent efforts of Comatissioner Sells, who determined that Spopee's mind was unimpaired.

Spopee was convicted of the murder of a white man in Montana in 1879. While it was contended in efforts aimed to gain his pardon that he shot in self-defense, yet his friends took the position that his long imprisonment among the insane was more than enough punishment for any offense. The Indian, now 65 years old, looked to his future with the enthusiasm of a youth.

MRS. PANKHURST TAKEN TO HOLLOWAY JAIL.

Violent Scene Created on Re-Appearance in Court.

Several Militants Arrested in May, for Conspiracy, Up for Trial.

LONDON, July 8.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst today resumed command of the forces of the Women's Social and Political Union at their London headquarters, but was not permitted to remain there long. She re-occupied the offices at noon without hindrance by the police, although they knew of her intention and had detectives on duty in the vicinity. However, when she emerged from her headquarters to go to luncheon the police pounced on her and took her to Holloway jail.

Simultaneously with the re-appearance of Mrs. Pankhurst a violent scene was created in the central criminal court, where Mrs. H. F. Alice Hall, Miss Grace Roe, Miss Julia Jameson and Miss Ellen Armes were brought up for trial for conspiracy. The charge against them was that of "conspiring with others maliciously to commit damage and injury, and to spoil certain real and personal property of the liege subjects of our lord, the king."

The prisoners were arrested during a raid on a West End flat May 21, and in their rooms were found a new shrapnel grenade of ingenious manufacture, a coil of fuse, and plans of houses, with instructions how to reach them and as to the usual movements of the police in the vicinity.

Miss Roe and Mrs. Hall when brought into court, surrounded by women wardens, refused to plead. They threw papers and pens from the prisoners' enclosure and shouted a running commentary on their treatment in Holloway jail. Both of these prisoners complained of having been forcibly fed. They made a violent fight and it took two policemen and five women attendants to carry them out of court to cells below.

The other prisoners pleaded not guilty.

ONE MILITANT CAPTURED.

An Attempt Made to Destroy the Robert Burns Cottage at Ayer.

GLASGOW, Scotland, July 8.—An attempt to destroy the cottage at Ayer, where Robert Burns was born, January 25, 1759, was made just before daylight today by two members of a militant suffragette "arson squad." The two women were surprised by a night watchman as they were in the act of placing large bombs against the doors and windows of the poet's birthplace, which is venerated as a shrine by the Scottish nation. The man captured one of the militants, but the other escaped.

The women wore stockings over their shoes in order to deaden the noise and hide their footprints. The arrested woman gave her name as Janet Arthur. She created a scene when arraigned at the police court, fighting the wardens and shouting quotations from Burns's poems. She was remanded.

HUGE BANNER DISPLAYED.

Militants Try to Attract Their Majesties' Attention in Scotland.

DUMBARTON, Scotland, July 8.—Militant suffragettes made desperate efforts today to attract the attention of King George and Queen Mary, who are making a tour through Scotland. At Balloch Bridge, at the foot of Loch Tomd, the women cut down all the decorations, and at Dalmuir, 10 miles from Glasgow, they managed to break out a huge banner bearing the words "Your Majesty, stop the forcible feeding and torturing of women," across the route as the procession arrived. At the same time one woman, armed with a megaphone, bawled denunciations of forcible feeding. Neither the king nor the queen paid the slightest attention, but the crowd who had gathered to see Their Majesties displayed such a hostile attitude that the militants beat a hasty retreat.

AMERICANS TO DEFEND TROPHY.

Excellent Races Promised in Canoe Elimination Trials This Week.

NEW YORK, July 8.—American canoeists are preparing to defend the international canoe trophy, and some excellent races are promised at the elimination trials Friday and Saturday in Gravesend Bay. If other trial races are necessary they will be sailed next Monday. July 17 and 18 are the dates set for the trophy races.

Ralph Britton of the Canarsie Canoe and Motorboat Club is the challenger. This is the second time he has sought to lift the trophy. Last year he lost to Leo Friede of the Manhattan Canoe Club of this city. The trophy which Britton seeks has been up for competition 28 years. The New York Canoe Club offered the trophy in 1886 as a perpetual challenge sailing trophy. It has been successfully defended since then by American canoeists.

A TEAM COMPETITION.

Five Providence Couples Challenge Newport for Contest at the Beach.

Mr. Pordon, the professional dancer at the beach, has received a challenge from five couples representing Providence, to compete against Newport, in a team contest. He is looking upon the idea with favor and the contest, if the challenge is accepted, will be held at the beach at an early future date. He will select five teams from Newport, coach them individually and as a unit, and from his remarks to a News reporter Newporters need not fear about the result. He says there has been a great improvement in the dancing, even in the short period of two weeks; there are some fine individual dancers, who could be developed into finished performers with a little coaching. It is hoped that some of the good dancers, who have not as yet taken part in these contests, will help out, so that Newport can be well represented in the team competition.

Judging by the amount of interest centered in the dance contest at the beach Thursday night this week's event promises to eclipse former records. For amateurs only, it will consist of a combination one-step and hesitation waltz. It is not the intention of the orchestra to try to trick or confuse contesting couples by continued changes of tempo throughout. There will be only one change, from a one-step to a waltz. As in the previous contests judges will be chosen who are well up in the new dances, and do not know any of the competitors, so that all entries can be treated impartially. The beach orchestra under the direction of Mr. Oscar S. Adler of New York, has promised to give music which will not suffer in comparison with any of the noted orchestras.

DR. FARNUM HONORED.

Osteopath Given Two Places on Program of Philadelphia Convention.

Dr. C. E. Farnum of this city has been given two places on the program of the eighteenth annual convention of the American Osteopathic Association, in Philadelphia the first week in August. He will conduct a clinic in which he will demonstrate the technique of osteopathic treatment for various conditions. Another day he will read a technical paper on "Neurasthenia."

This will be the largest gathering of osteopathic physicians and surgeons ever held in the world. Three thousand are expected and the convention will last the entire week. The sessions will be held in the Lellevue-Stratford, one of the best hotels in the country. "Health Sunday" will be observed in Philadelphia the day before the meetings begin, and the pulpits of various churches will be occupied by osteopaths from other cities. Clinics will be held in the Philadelphia Hospital, the largest institution of its kind in America. A number of other osteopaths from various parts of the state will also attend the sessions.

PELICAN FLIES AWAY.

Bird Fails to Take Kindly to Chinese River at Belmont Tea House.

A report comes from the vicinity of "Marble House" that the display of sea fowl in the Chinese river was not up to the expectations of Mrs. Belmont, because one of the pelicans did not take kindly to the new river. Instead of strolling quietly through its waters, it took to the ampler space of the Atlantic ocean, only a few feet away, and when last seen was making good time toward Seaconnet point, the nearest land in a straight line.

It was not known that Mrs. Belmont contemplated using pelicans for this river; swans and Chinese ducks were the fowl supposed to be in the river. This pelican story may be only the imagining of a warm afternoon after a very chilly storm, but the story still stands that one of the pelicans flew the river.

INJURED IN THE GALE.

From Jamestown comes the report that in the blow of Monday night Mr. Wetherill's Jamestown 25-footer Hyenus was driven up on the beach, but escaped injury. Not so lucky were some others, which dragged and went to pieces or were badly damaged. There is one craft in the lower harbor with her mast carried away, and Tuesday fishing steamer Vigilant brought in a small knockabout with two men and a woman on board. The craft was picked up off shore, and it was well for the occupants it was.

DR. CHAPIN DEAD.

Chaplain of Rhode Island Society of the Cincinnati Passes Away.

Rev. Dr. Henry Barton Chapin, chaplain of the Rhode Island Society of the Cincinnati, died at his summer home Tuesday in White Plains, N. Y., of a complication of diseases. He was born in Rochester, N. Y., 80 years ago. Entering Yale University he was graduated in the class of 1847 and later finished the theological courses in the Union and Princeton seminaries.

For several years Dr. Chapin did pastoral work in New York city missions, following which he had charge of churches in Steubenville, Ohio, and Trenton, N. J. In 1867 he entered the educational field, founding the Collegiate School, New York, later known as the Chapin Collegiate School. He continued that work until 1907, when he retired. He married, in February, 1854, Miss Harriet A. Smith, of New York, who died last March, soon after celebrating their sixtieth wedding anniversary.

Dr. Chapin was chaplain of the Society of the Cincinnati of Rhode Island and chaplain general of the General Society of the Cincinnati, and for many years recording secretary of the Evangelical Alliance. He was a member of the Sons of the Revolution, and the Presbyterian Union, and leaves five sons, four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The deceased was one of the oldest members of the Rhode Island Society of the Cincinnati, having become eligible through his great-grandfather, Colonel William Barton, who was connected with an additional regiment, Rhode Island Continental infantry, and became prominent as the captor of General Prescot at his headquarters in Portsmouth during the Revolution. Dr. Chapin was a regular attendant at the annual meetings of the society here until this year, when his health prevented his coming and participating in the business meeting and commemorative exercises, last Saturday. He was, however, re-elected chaplain of the society.

RUTH LAW UP THIS NOON.

Flight Over Spouting Rock Beach Seen From Many Parts of City.

Ruth Law saw more of Newport this noon than she has seen in any of her previous flights, ascending from Easton's beach and circling over Spouting Rock beach. The wind was blowing quite fresh, but not too strong for good flying, and she rose to quite an elevation, so that she was seen from many parts of the city from which it has not heretofore been possible to see attractions given at the beach. This afternoon she is in hopes of going up again and also this evening. Little Elsie, who has also become restive at the long enforced lay-off, proposes to do some diving today or tonight.

PURE WATER.

Once was the time when "Adam's Ale" meant about anything in the form of water. Later, people began to think, and to suspect that possibly Adam got suspicions of the spring water in the garden and for that reason took a chance at apple juice. Anyway, folks in these days are getting mighty particular regarding the purity of their drinking water, and with good reason. Population has increased since Adam's time. With perpetual hope to come all kinds of contaminations to affect our water supplies and several kinds of disease that Adam never dreamed of have been trying to exterminate us, in consequence. Now, you can be sure of one thing. You can't get any disease by drinking pure water. On the contrary, you will be in better condition to fight disease if you drink only pure water.

ADVICE ABOUT HOW TO REMOVE UNSIGHTLY HAIR

Many physicians use the ingredients contained in El Rado for removing hair in connection with their laboratory work. This shows conclusively how perfectly harmless its action is. Thousands of women have discovered this, too, and have learned how totally unnecessary it is to go around with unbeautiful growths on lip, chin, cheek, neck or arms. They apply a few drops of El Rado, the liquid hair remover. Almost instantly the hair vanishes, leaving the skin smooth, velvety and even whiter than before. This is because, positively without the slightest harm, the hair has been dissolved.

El Rado is now a standard toilet article, used by thousands of women. You need have no more hesitation in asking for and using El Rado than in asking for and using a toilet powder. Try El Rado on your arm; prove for yourself that it will do everything claimed. Your money back if you are not entirely satisfied. In 50c. and $1.00 size bottles at all leading drug and department stores, or direct from the Pilgrim Mfg. Co., New York. Valuable information sent on request. In this city, El Rado is sold and recommended by:

PARCEL POST PLAN OFTEN ABUSED

Some Farmers Think It Offers a Chance to Obtain Large Prices for Products.

A Series of Practical Investigations to be Undertaken by the Housekeepers' Alliance.

[Washington Star.]

It was cupidity that killed the goose that laid the golden egg, and the same vice may make the new parcel post service of but little value to the farmer if he is not careful.

Because certain farmers and others who have farm produce for sale imagine that the new service plainly brings the customer to their door, it is said, they have fallen into the mistaken notion that they are at liberty to charge what they please and the consumer is helpless in the matter. Their eyes are likely to be opened soon, it is asserted, as the result of a series of practical investigations which are to be undertaken under the auspices of the Housekeepers' Alliance and allied bodies in this city.

Shortly after the plan outlined in the Star's story of the possibilities of marketing by parcel post was practically adopted by the postal officials and after the article, with additional technical information concerning the rules and methods of the parcel post service, was circulated broadcast, letters began pouring in from the truck and other farmers asking that their products might be listed with those that had already been received, at the Public Library, where housewives go daily to read the prices quoted.

The department readily complied, and soon the list of quotations at the Public Library began to assume valuable proportions for the thrifty housekeeper. But there is apparently a rift in the lute, and the Housekeepers' Alliance, it is understood, is going to try to mend it.

Tentative plans have been formulated whereby consumers' clubs will be formed, with three persons to each club, for the purpose of ascertaining definitely which farmer or other produce sellers are disposed to sell at reasonable prices and under fair terms, which use due care in packing their produce for shipment by parcel post, and which give prompt and satisfactory service in other respects. In this way the entire surrounding country will be covered, and from the results of these trials the Housekeepers' Alliance will be in position to give valuable information to Washington housekeepers, and, incidentally, to benefit fair-dealing farmers and others who have supplies for home consumption for sale at reasonable prices and under reasonable conditions.

This action, it is said, has been prompted by the tendency shown in some recent letters received from country produce sellers to charge exorbitant prices, apparently based upon misinformation as to city prices. For instance, one man at Lanesville, Va., writes he will sell three dozen eggs for $1, although the market prices quoted in the Star show that strictly fresh eggs may be obtained in the city markets at from 25 to 28 cents a dozen. Another at Woodwardville, Md., offers country butter at 40 cents a pound in lots of from one to five pounds, and at 35 cents for larger lots, although the best creamery butter, according to quotations, is selling here at 30 cents a pound, with medium grades at from 22 to 25 cents a pound. A poultry farm at New Lisbon, N. J., wants 40 cents a dozen for non-fertile eggs the year round, and a man at Denver, Pa., offers fresh "white sanitary eggs" at $1 for two dozen. Still another at Delaplane, Va., offers his eggs at Washington quotations "plus 10 cents."

Home-grown cherries, according to yesterday's quotations here, bring from 15 to 25 cents a quart, but an orchard company at Sleepy Creek, W. Va., offers "a very nice crop of Montmorency cherries" in 32 quart crates, by parcel post, at $3.25. This variety, it is stated, is one of the best sour cherries, and excellent for pies and other culinary purposes.

The cherry seller's, however, is not the only reasonable offer. A shipper of clams at Quinby, Va., guarantees to send "absolutely good, fresh clams that will reach any destination within the first zone within 20 hours after they are dug from their beds," at 5 cents a dozen. He says he has been informed in Washington that such clams brought 25 cents a dozen, "but from the way they looked," he added, "I don't think they had seen water for at least a month." He states he is now shipping his clams to consumers in Washington, Baltimore, Annapolis and Hagerstown by parcel post.

A woman at Betterton, Md., has for sale spring chickens at 40 cents a pound, and will sell "fresh-laid eggs" in five-dozen boxes at 25 cents a dozen and in two-dozen boxes at 27 cents a dozen, and canned fruit at $3.50 a dozen quart jars.

A novel offer has been received from a man at Fort Hunter, Pa., who has 140 acres of mountain land that is said to grow "the best mountain herbs in the world, including sassafras, wild cherry, pipsissewa, blackberry, pennyroyal, May apple, life everlasting, wintergreen, peppermint, elder, elderberry, dandelion, thistle, white poplar roots, powder willow, chestnuts, dock, plantain, motherwort, boneweed, boneset, blood root and spicewood."

Another man has several spring lambs ready for the market and he would like to know the name of the person or firm who wants them. A man at Malvern, Pa., wants to sell "asparagus plumosa in one-foot lots and smilax as a decorative green" by parcel post. A woman at Port Union, Va., has 20 dozen guaranteed fresh eggs every week to sell at 27 cents a dozen, and another at Tappahannock, Va., offers to sell them at 30 cents the year round. She also has vegetables and fruit for sale. A man at Delaplane has honey which he offers for sale at 16 cents.

Letters have been received from parts of the country as a result of Postmaster Praeger's request. One from Puyallup, state of Washington, wants his name listed on the parcel post list for Tacoma and Seattle. He has "fresh and superior table eggs the year round; strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, cherries in season, cut flowers, bulbs, potted plants and gladioli bulbs." A man at Tecumseh, Neb., offers spring chickens 1½ to 1¾ pounds, at 30 cents a pound; hams, 10 to 16 pounds, at 22 cents; bacon sides, 8 to 14 pounds at 20 cents a pound. He guarantees they are "sugar-cured in brine and smoked with real smoke," and will ship them to the first caller who wants them.

An establishment at Marshall, Va., offers "old Virginia corn meal ground and shipped the same day in 10-pound packages for 50 cents in two-pound packages."

Even the planters at the Massachusetts Agricultural College are asking for the full information obtainable as to the efforts by the Postoffice Department to bring the consumer in closer touch with the farm producer, and the chairman on education of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs has had her attention drawn to the new movement and wishes information in the interest of a gardening and canning school conducted under her supervision.

These letters give some idea of the spread of the information about the movement in which Postmaster General Burleson is said to be deeply interested and to which Postmaster Praeger has devoted much time and thought.

The action of the Housekeepers' Alliance, however, is said to be the first step taken by private individuals and consumers to bring this trade between consumers and farm products sellers to a practical basis. The experience of many who have found a saving in obtaining their marketing, or certain articles for household use, direct from the farm has inspired the belief, it is said, that the scheme is generally feasible. But it is first necessary to educate the farmer and sometimes his wife as to city conditions and to make it clear that fair dealing is an indispensable condition to the development of a business that will absorb surplus produce that is now either sacrificed or goes to waste, and at the same time result in a saving to the city purchaser.

MISS ALICE DREXEL SUED.

Governess Files Action for Damages in Automobile Accident Here.

An action for $50,000 damages has been filed in the New York supreme court against Alice Gordon Drexel, daughter of John R. Drexel, as the outcome of an automobile accident in this city in August, 1912, when Miss Drexel was driving. Marie Louise Laglenne, a French governess, formerly in the employ of Miss Drexel, asserts that when she was riding with Miss Drexel the young woman ran into another automobile, throwing the governess out and inflicting injuries which sent her to a sanitarium for six months. Miss Laglenne alleges that Miss Drexel drove "improperly and carelessly." The accident was the same in which George Koseiny, the chauffeur, was also injured.

According to Floyd K. Difendorf, attorney for Miss Laglenne, unsuccessful attempts have been made to serve summons in the action on Miss Drexel ever since the serious nature of Miss Laglenne's injuries was ascertained. He made application to serve the summons by mail at her New York address, 1 East Sixty-second street. This permission was granted.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

Many Cities Successful in Management of Water and Lighting Plants.

[New York Evening Post.]

Though the progress of municipal ownership may have disappointed those who hoped much from it a decade ago, it is still making headway. This is in spite of the development of state control of those very utilities which cities are most tempted to acquire. The American Academy of Political and Social Sciences certifies in the latest of its annals to "a noticeable revival in the movement." In some instances municipal ownership is frankly experimental, as with ice plants in Cincinnati, Terre Haute, Schenectady and several Connecticut cities; in some it is recreational, as with Houston's municipal entertainments and the municipal coal yard of Two Harbors, Mich.; while the many cities that have lately taken over their own water plants may be dismissed without note. But with transportation lines in large cities and lighting plants in smaller, the case is different.

Since January, 1912, Detroit and Bay City, Mich., have voted for municipally owned street railways; San Francisco and Seattle have opened lines; Toledo's present dispute threatens to end in municipal ownership; St. Louis is to vote on a municipal subway this fall, while Chicago has plans to the same end. In the same period Tacoma, Ypsilanti, South Norwalk, Alameda, Duluth, Winnipeg and others have established lighting plants, and Lincoln, Neb., Omaha, Knoxville, Providence, Kansas City, Kan., Topeka, Louisville and Jacksonville, Fla., have either opened or report successful management of water and lighting plants.

CANADA'S LARGEST TANK.

[Engineering Record.]

The largest elevated steel water tower in the Dominion of Canada has been completed recently at St. Thomas, Ontario, for the improved city water supply. The capacity of the tank is 500,000 gallons; height to top of tank, 131 feet, 2¾ in; diameter, 46 feet and height of shell, 37 feet, 3¾ inches. This elevated tank is high enough to give an average pressure of about 18 pounds per square inch in the mains at the tower site, with a possible minimum pressure of 35 pounds and maximum of 56 pounds per square inch.

ONLY ONE SCRATCH HIT.

two runs in the sixth, when Spingler made the only hit off Beattie. Donahue struck out, but Maloney reached first when hit by a pitched ball, and stole second. Dunn flied to Walling for the second out. Spingler hit a slow roller along the third base line, and beat the ball to first. Spingler went to steal second, and Gerrie's wild throw let Maloney score, after which Spingler scored on the poor throw back from centre field.

A catch by Coffey in the fifth inning kept the Glenwoods from scoring two runs. With runners on second and third and two out, Hamilton made a great bid for a hit, but his line drive was deftly speared by Coffey. The score:

MEDICAL.

NOBODY SPARED

Kidney Troubles Attack Newport Men and Women, Old and Young.

Kidney ills seize young and old.

Often come with little warning.

Children suffer in their early years—

Can't control the kidney secretions.

Girls are languid, nervous, suffer pain.

Women worry, can't do daily work.

Men have lame and aching backs.

If you have any form of kidney ills

You must reach the cause—the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Have brought relief to Newport people.

Newport testimony proves it.

Mr. Leon M. Shaw, 17 Farewell St., Newport, says: "We have taken Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and they have always brought relief. We keep them on hand all the time and I have used them several times. We have certainly been well satisfied with our experience with Doan's Kidney Pills. We give them to our children with good results."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Shaw recommends. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, July 8, Wall Street—The market opened with Amalgamated Copper at 71, American Smelting and Refining 65, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe 99⅝, Baltimore & Ohio 91¾, Brooklyn Rapid Transit 91¾, Canadian Pacific 194, Denver & Rio Grande 9½, Erie 29⅛, Missouri Pacific 14, New York Central 90⅞, Reading 164⅝, Rock Island preferred 27, Southern Pacific 97⅜, Union Pacific 156⅝, United States Steel 61⅞, United States Steel preferred 109⅝, Western Union 59½, Westinghouse Electric 76½.

Noon—The movement became more confused later, high class stocks improving, while selling of the Gould group increased. Missouri Pacific fell to 14⅝, a new low figure and the 4 per cent collateral and 5 per cent convertible bonds lost 1 and 5 points respectively. Unfavorable reports concerning Missouri Pacific were current, but failed to attract more than passing attention. New Haven repeated its recent low price of 63⅝ and Chesapeake & Ohio also was heavy. American Smelting was the strongest feature, rising 2 points, chiefly on short covering. Another gold export of $500,000 to Paris was regarded as a special transaction. Bonds, other than those referred to, were irregular. Call money, firm, at 2. Mercantile paper, 3¾ and 4¼. Exchanges, $293,592,702; balances, $18,056,069.

THE TRAINING STATION APPROACH.

Improvement to Change It from a Narrow Street to a Boulevard.

Large Number of Trees on the Government Land Cut Down During the Widening.

After being for 25 years little better than a wagon track, the approach to the Naval Training Station is now to become a boulevard, a sort of compromise for the broader plan of a section of the general system to encircle the city.

In the development of a good approach via Third street difficulties have been met, but it is plain that these are minor today compared with what they would be a few years since, while if the task had been undertaken 25 years ago practically none of the present stumbling blocks would have been encountered. It is not long since that there was but one house on the east side of Third street from Van Zandt avenue out, and in fact the space was but little better than a swamp. The price of the land could not have been much and the cost of widening would have been about the cost of filling.

As the work is now being carried [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] This necessitated the cutting down of many trees, whose shade has been welcome on sunny days to the hundreds who travel that way daily. Some of the trees cut down were fine specimens [illegible] generations.

The [illegible] trees [illegible] way to the axe are seen in the upper picture, while the lower shows the widening [illegible] and a large tree [illegible] on the edge of the sidewalk [illegible] the upper view. The [illegible] in the centre of the roadway in the lower picture shows the former line of what passed for a sidewalk. The [illegible] post marks [illegible] shown.

In the middle distance is the new power house [illegible] [illegible] for heating and [illegible] [illegible] operation of the electric generators [illegible]

The [illegible] Point wharf [illegible] of Third street [illegible] [illegible] has been completed all but the northern end. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] stand [illegible] [illegible] in [illegible] will be required to bring the street up to the new grade. The [illegible] company will [illegible] raise its tracks considerably and it will be several weeks before the railway will be [illegible] completed [illegible] small undertaking.

SHOWING NOT SO GOOD.

Steamers 2 and 7 Fail to do as Satisfactory Work as Nos. 4 and 5.

The Twos Have the Advantage, But Both Streams Lacking in Power.

Steamers 2 and 7 were out for practice Tuesday evening at Lopez wharf and neither made as good a showing as did No. 4 and No. 5 on the previous evening. [illegible] the wind was from the southwest, just the opposite of the previous trial, and it was not the same weather [illegible] watched the tests, which lasted a little more than half an hour. There was no trouble with leaking nozzles and leaky hose; evidently good hose with proper threads was selected and it worked all right.

The Sevens was the first steamer on the scene and took position on the south side of the wharf, the [illegible] to be at the northwest corner. This made it necessary to shut down when the Twos arrived to allow the latter to take position. The Sevens came down the wharf at 6:43 and at 6:55 was pumping. The stream [illegible] right as it left the nozzle [illegible] thin; it lacked the body of those thrown the night before, and also lacked the distance. At 7:02 the Twos arrived and the expected shut-down took place for five minutes.

The Sevens resumed pumping at 7:07 and the Twos began at 7:11, and for six minutes there was opportunity to compare the two streams. The Twos had it all over the Sevens. [illegible]

FOR REDWOOD LIBRARY.

"Shareholder" Urges Importance of Attending the Annual Meeting.

To the Editor of the News:

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Company of the Redwood Library and Athenaeum occurs next Wednesday. In view of a letter which appeared in the News of October 21, 1913, it has seemed desirable, in addition to the regularly advertised notice of this meeting, in this way again to call the attention of the stockholders to the importance of attending. Unless a very much larger number of stockholders than usual attend this meeting, the methods of procedure in carrying on the business of the Library, questioned by "A Stockholder" in the letter referred to, cannot be changed. Of late years the attendance has been small, the meeting consisting chiefly of the directors, who are shareholders, and a very few other shareholders, the necessary quorum being obtained by the use of standing proxies secured and kept for this purpose.

If the shareholders take so little interest in their own company as scarcely ever to attend its annual meeting, when the annual reports are presented, giving a full account of the business done during the year, and plans for the next year's work are often presented and discussed to a greater or lesser extent, and directors and other officers are elected, they certainly cannot legitimately question or criticise action taken either at this annual meeting or by the directors at their meetings, whether right or wrong, wise or unwise. If not satisfied with the action of those directors and others, who take interest enough to attend the meeting and do the necessary business of the Library, the shareholders should attend their annual meeting in sufficient numbers to control matters themselves.

ONLY ONE SCRATCH HIT.

Glenwoods Defeated by the Colonials, 9 to 2, by Beattie's Good Pitching.

Winners Sew Up Game in the Opening Inning and Continue Scoring to the End.

Independents	2	1	.667
Colonials	1	2	.333
Glenwoods	1	3	.250
Aquidnecks	0	4	.000

Only one scratch hit was made by the Glenwoods off Beattie Tuesday afternoon at the Vernon Avenue playfield, when the Colonials defeated them, 9-2, in a game featured by his good pitching. In the seven innings played, 12 of the Glenwoods took the count on strikes, and Beattie would have had a shut-out but for errors which allowed runners to reach first and then score. The threatening weather did not affect the players, although it served to keep down the attendance.

The Colonials sewed up the game in the opening inning, when they made two runs on solid hitting. Battery errors and one hit gave the Colonials three tallies in the second. With two down in the fifth Underwood made the only extra-base hit of the game, and then scored on two passed balls. Two more counters were made by the winners in the sixth.

The Glenwoods scored their only
